Fact-Finders Ask 16½-Cent Increase For Rail Workers

Non-Operating Unions Sought 27-Cent Boost

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)— A fact-finding report filed at the White House today recommended a quarter billion dollar annual boost in wages and health benefits for 750,000 non-operating employes of the nation's railroads.

The report, submitted by an emergency board named by President Eisenhower, said the employes should get a 14½ cent hourly pay increase, plus an added two cents per hour payment toward their health and welfare plan.

The 16½ cent an hour increase compares with 10½ cents an hour offered by the carriers and a 27-cent an hour increase sought by the dozen rail labor unions involved.

Proposals Not Binding

The board recommendations are not binding on either side, but such suggestions usually form a settlement basis.

The workers involved are telegraphers, clerks and others who do not actually operate the trains. They presently average $1.78 per hour.

The emergency board recommended that the 14½ cent per hour pay boost be effective as of Dec. 1. It suggested the additional welfare financing become effective next March 1.

Under the health-welfare plan in effect since last March 1 the carriers and each employe have shared the $6.80 per month insurance premium for each worker. Today's recommendation was that the railroads assume the full cost.

Issue Fought Out In Strike

This was the principal issue fought out in the two-month strike on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad earlier this year, with an arbitrator eventually deciding the railroad should pay the full cost of the health plan.

The board making today's recommendations consisted of Dudley E. Whiting, Detroit, chairman; John Day Larkin, Chicago, and G. Allan Dash, Philadelphia.

It placed no over-all cost on the proposed 16½ cent per hour settlement but estimated the carriers' offer of 10½-cents an hour, which was rejected by the union, would run 186 million dollars a year. On that basis the 16½ cents an hour is worth about 250 million annually.

Russia Rebuffed On Cleric Issue

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—The United States has rejected Russia's newest request that Soviet Archbishop Boris be permitted to enter this country for an indefinite stay to carry out his duties as head of the Russian Orthodox Church in America.

At the same time, the State Department asked Russia to place no more obstacles in the way of permitting Father Louis Dion, an American Roman Catholic priest, to go to Moscow to minister to the religious needs of U.S. nationals there.

The department said the Soviet government's linking of the cases of Archbishop Boris and Father Dion "has tended to confuse the issues involved and to complicate a clear understanding of the U.S. government's position."

In its note, the United States expressed willingness to allow Archbishop Boris and an aide to make temporary visits to this country in order to tend to their administrative duties. The State Department insisted, however, that any Soviet clergyman staying indefinitely in the United States should be bound by the same regulations as are imposed on an American clergyman in the Soviet Union.

Syrian Border Battle Probed; Claims Conflict

JERUSALEM, Dec. 12 (AP)—U.N. truce observers hastened to the Syrian border today to investigate the latest crisis in the wavering peace between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

Israeli forces attacked four Syrian fortified posts overlooking the northeastern shore of the Sea of Galilee Sunday night and by Israeli account blew up the positions before retiring to their base after an all-night battle.

Reports on killed and wounded differed. Israeli sources said 55 Syrians were killed and 29 captured, against Israeli losses of four killed and 12 wounded. A Syrian army spokesman in Damascus said Syria's losses were 25 killed and 28 missing. The Damascus radio declared 100 Israeli soldiers were killed and wounded in the battle on the shores of the ancient sea.

Syrian spokesmen described the action as a surprise assault by commando units and two infantry brigades which were backed up by tanks, artillery and armored boats firing from the Sea of Galilee.

The four posts fell, the Syrians admitted, after four hours of fighting, but they said the Israelis were forced to withdraw after three more hours when they attempted to seize heights behind the posts. After that, the Syrians said, the Israelis were busy with ambulances removing their dead and wounded to their fishing village base at Ein Gev.

The Israelis said the attack was a punitive raid to silence Syrian guns which have been harassing Israeli fishing boats on the sea. A four-pronged assault was launched on an eight-mile front, they said, from the north where the Jordan flows into the sea and in the Kursi Naquart and Beth Habeq sectors.

Baltimore's Strip Pips Win In Court

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12 (AP)—Baltimore's strip pips won a legal battle today. They don't have to submit to the indignity of being registered, photographed and finger-printed by the police.

Judge Reuben Oppenheimer gladdened the hearts of the crowd along East Baltimore Street, variously known as "The Block" or "The Blot."

Judge Oppenheimer ruled the Baltimore Liquor Board did not have legal power to promulgate its new rule, No. 53.

Rule 53, enacted as the result of a grand jury investigation, provided that after approximately Jan. 1 all employes of places holding both liquor and live entertainment licenses would have to register, be finger-printed, and wear official police identification photographs.

Hunt For Coed's Killer Pressed

OMAHA, Dec. 12 (AP) — Police made a house-to-house search for clues today as they pressed for a quick break in their investigation of the slaying of Carolyn Nevins.

"I hope for early developments," said Detective Inspector Ernest Brown, the man who is directing the search for the slayer of the attractive 20-year-old University of Omaha coed.

The all-out investigation is producing a lot of possible leads, he said, and police feel sure they can sift something concrete from these.

Carolyn was found shot to death on a snow-covered campus roadway at 4:10 a.m. Saturday. That was about six hours after she left the university library where she worked.

One man questioned in the case was given a lie detector test and then released on an $100 appearance bond. A second man will be given a detector test tomorrow morning.

Invading Reds Suffer Beating In West Berlin

BERLIN, Dec. 12 (AP)—A throng of East German Communists took a beating from the clubs and water cannon of West Berlin police tonight in a riot that stemmed from a Red march on a French sector beer hall.

A tightly organized company of 250 of the riot police turned back the invaders—estimated to number more than 1,500—after an hourlong fight and arrested 366.

Eight women were among the prisoners.

Stahlhelm Reds' Target

The Communists braved 28-degree weather and the riot cannons' icy water, which froze almost as soon as it hit, for a demonstration against the Stahlhelm (Steel Helmet), a World War II veterans' organization which they call Fascist and militaristic.

They headed for Bober's Tavern, where a local chapter of the Stahlhelm recently scheduled a rally for tonight. Earlier Communist threats had frightened the tavern owner, however, and it was announced several days ago that this rally had been cancelled.

But the Communists marched anyway.

No Serious Injuries

Dozens of heads were clubbed. But there were no reports of serious injuries to any of the demonstrators. Two policemen were injured and taken to a hospital for first aid treatment.

The melee spread over nearly a square mile of town.

The demonstration had been whipped up by the Communist East Berlin press and radio, which regularly uses the Stahlhelm as a whipping boy.

The Communists particularly attacked the Stahlhelm president, former Nazi Field Marshal Albert Kesselring.

Government Eases Mortgage Credits

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—The government today announced a further slight easing on home mortgage credits.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board issued new rules establishing "standby credit" for savings and loan associations under which the latter may increase their borrowings from the bank to finance new housing construction.

Each member association may borrow an amount equivalent to 5 per cent of the total of withdrawable savings deposits held by it, the board said. However, the total borrowings, both old and new, may not exceed 10 per cent of such savings accounts.

U. N. Unit Ends Chores

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly's Political Committee finished its work for the current 10th annual session tonight. Only two of the seven working committees remain to do so. The three-month session is scheduled to end Friday.

10-Year Test Shows Tooth Decay Cut By Fluoridation

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—A 10-year human test shows that adding sodium fluoride to drinking water is a "safe and effective" way of sharply reducing tooth decay in children, health leaders declared tonight.

They said it reduced decay and tooth loss by nearly 60 per cent, without any harm to children.

The "effectiveness and safety" are the prime findings from the famous Newburgh-Kingston study of tooth decay and fluoridation of water, said Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, New York State health commissioner.

The town of Newburgh, N.Y., 10 years ago began adding a little sodium fluoride to its public water, while Kingston, a nearby town of equal size, did not.

A final comprehensive report on this scientific test was presented by Dr. Hilleboe and other health experts at a conference of the New York Institute of Clinical Oral Pathology.

Highlights of these reports:

The study "has demonstrated beyong question of a doubt the effectiveness and the safety of water fluoridation as a public health procedure," said Dr. Hilleboe.

After 10 years, children in Newburgh aged 6 to 9 have 58 per cent less tooth decay and missing teeth than Kingston youngsters of the same ages. The Newburgh children have had fluoridated water all their lives, the Kingston children not.

The study finds 52 to 53 per cent less decay, missing and filled teeth among Newburgh children who now are 10 to 12 years old. It finds 48 per cent less among children aged 13 to 14, and 41 per cent less among 16-year-olds, whose first permanent molars were erupting when fluoridation began.

Lodge Blasts Huge, Secret U. N. Caucus

Meeting, With U. S. Excluded, Fails To End Member Snarl

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—A huge secret caucus of U.N. delegates failed today to end a snarl on admitting 18 new members. But it aroused an angry protest from Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who branded it a "star chamber practice" objectionable to the American people.

Nearly all of the 52 delegates who voted in the General Assembly last week for the 18-nation package deal attended the meeting. No decisions were taken. Thus the Security Council will meet tomorrow with no break in the impasse.

"Dubious Proceedings"

Lodge was asked by a reporter for comment on the caucus as he strode past the meeting room en route to the Political Committee session on disarmament. In angry voice, he said:

"It is a dubious proceedings to organize meetings of practically everyone in the General Assembly and exclude the United States. To have a meeting and to take positions on matters which come up without the United States being there is certainly wrong and most objectionable.

"I was not invited. I would not have gone had I been invited. There should be only a regular meeting, regularly called in public and with an agenda. The American people won't like this sort of meeting. This is a star chamber practice I don't like."

U. S. Abstained In Assembly

Lodge was not invited because the United States abstained on the package resolution in the Assembly vote. Delegates of Israel, Greece and Belgium left the room when they learned it was meant only for the 52. Herve Alphand, France, looked in to be sure no French delegate was inside. All of those abstained in the Assembly vote.

Only Nationalist China, which maintains its threat to veto, Outer Mongolia, and the delegate of Cuba voted against the resolution.

One diplomat in the meeting who would not permit identification, said it was an unsuccessful attempt to reassure the Russians their five candidates, Hungary, Romania, Albania, Outer Mongolia and Bulgaria, would receive Assembly approval if they pass the Security Council.

Court To Rule If Firm Must Open Books To Union

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to rule on whether a company which says it cannot afford to grant a wage increase may be compelled to open its financial records to a union.

The court acted in response to a government contention that an employer could shut off wage negotiations merely by saying it is in no position to grant a wage increase.

Involved in the case are the Truitt Manufacturing Co., Greensboro, N. C., and the AFL Ironworkers Union.

The National Labor Relations Board ordered the company to open its financial books to the union when it contended it could not afford a wage increase demanded by the union. The Iron Workers Union, in the summer of 1953, had demanded a wage increase of 10 cents an hour. The company offered 2½ cents an hour more. The company said a strike was called when it rejected the union demand.

The U. S. Court of Appeals at Richmond overruled the NLRB. It held the Taft-Hartley Act does not require disclosure of financial records as a test of good faith bargaining.

In numerous decisions in the past, courts have held employers, in connection with collective bargaining negotiations, must provide unions with such things as wage and job classification data and seniority information.

But the question of whether a company may be required to open its financial records to a union has never been taken up by the Supreme Court.

Red Bloc Casts Only 'No' Votes

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—The U.N. Political Committee endorsed overwhelmingly today a proposal to give President Eisenhower's "open sky" inspection program first consideration in new attempts to break the disarmament deadlock.

Only the Soviet Union and its four satellites were in the opposition as the committee—the main political body of the U.N.—voted 53 to 5 in favor of a disarmament resolution advanced by the United States, Britain, France and Canada.

Lodge Hails Vote

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., the U.S. delegate, hailed the vote as "a ver, great day" in the history of the U.N.

The resolution now needs only the endorsement of the full General Assembly. A similar vote is expected there.

The Soviet Union said it objected to the four-power proposal on the grounds it failed to stress reduction of armaments, prohibition of atomic weapons and "the threat of a new war."

Soviet Dep. Foreign Minister V. V. Kuznetsov and representatives of the Ukraine, White Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia said putting Eisenhower's proposal ahead of other subjects would actually deter progress toward disarmament.

West Revises Resolution

The Western sponsors of the four-power proposal revised their resolution to incorporate ideas offered by both the Soviet Union and India.

But Kuznetsov said he could not go along with the revision because it left out basic principles on disarmament urged by his country.

The four-power resolution as adopted called on the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee to continue its efforts to reach agreement on a comprehensive disarmament plan in line with the instructions of last year's General Assembly. The four powers and the Soviet Union comprise the committee.

Commerce Dept. Acknowledges Lee Forced Out

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Commerce Department said today "neither political consideration nor personal malice" was involved in the ousting of Frederick B. Lee as chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

This was the department's first public acknowledgement that Lee's resignation last week was forced.

Earlier today, Sen. Monroney (D-Okla) accused Secretary Weeks and Undersecretary Louis S. Rothschild of trying to assume "czar-like powers to control civil aviation."

Monroney said Lee was fired for refusing to "knuckle under." He announced that the Senate Commerce Committee would open a broad investigation next month.

The Commerce Department statement was issued by Rothschild. It said he and Weeks both wanted Lee to succeed in his job but "the decision was reluctantly reached that someone better suited in leadership talent and teamwork was required."

In saying that political considerations were not involved, Rothschild noted that Lee is a Republican and so is the man picked to succeed him.

"In the President's illness,' Monroney said, "Weeks and Rothschild are trying to assume czar-like powers to control civil aviation.

"Lee was fired because he didn't knuckle under and let the Commerce Department dictate to him what should be done about civil aviation.

"This is all part of a pattern which included the blocking of Josh Lee as a member of the Civil Aeronautics Board. Ross Rizley of the board, is to be appointed a federal judge and Weeks will have another position to fill in his grab for control over aviation."

To succeed Frederick Lee, Weeks picked Charles J. Lowen Jr., a Denver Republican who has been serving as deputy to Lee since last May.

Eight American Fliers Killed In Morocco Crash

TETUAN, Spanish Morocco, Dec. 12 (AP)—A four-engined U.S. C54 military transport crashed last night in the rugged Riff mountains, killing all eight airmen aboard, Spanish authorities said today. The wreckage burned.

The accident occurred in the Gomora region, near the border between French and Spanish Morocco.

The U.S. legation in Tangier said the plane was presumed to be on a flight from the United States to Wheelus Field, Tripoli.

Spanish authorities, however, said the plane — apparently from a Texas Air Force base—was returning to the United States from Tripoli when it crashed into the side of a 5,000-foot mountain in the Riff range.

Turncoat GI Freed By Chinese Reds

HONG KONG, Tuesday, Dec. 13 (AP)—Richard Roger Tenneson, 22, Alden, Minn., a turncoat GI who refused repatriation by the Communists after the Korean War, crossed from Red China into this British crown colony today.

Richard Tomlin of the American Red Cross, a U.S., consular representative and an officer of the British border police were on hand to receive him.

Colleges, Hospitals Share Foundation Record Gift

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP) — The Ford Foundation today in one stroke gave away half a billion dollars to colleges and hospitals—a sum roughly equal to $3 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

The gigantic gift, the largest single appropriation in the history of philanthropy, was 150 million dollars more than the foundation had given previously in its 19 years of existence.

The sum of 210 million was earmarked for all 615 regionally accredited, privately supported colleges and universities in the United States to help them raise teacher's salaries.

This was in addition to 50 million appropriated by the foundation last spring for this purpose.

Another 200 million was tagged for about 3,500 privately supported hospitals to help them improve and extend services to the public.

And 90 million was reserved for privately supported medical schools to help them strengthen their instruction methods.

The largest single grant — five million dollars—went to New York University.

Other large grants were $4,510,000 for Harvard, $4,000,900 for Yale, and $4,324,200 for the University of Chicago.

The smallest grant was $31,900 to California School of Fine Arts, San Francisco.

The top grant for hospitals, $250,000, went to 57 institutions. The minimum in this field was $10,000.

Plan Will Get Top Priority In Congress

Strenuous Series Of Meetings Held By Ike, Top Aides

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration reported tonight it will give top priority in the new Congress to a farm program which GOP leaders predicted will "win widespread support."

The farm problem—serious because farmers' income has been falling while other elements of the nation are prosperous—occupied a major part of a strenuous series of conferences joined in by President Eisenhower, his Cabinet members and other aides, and Republican leaders of the House and Senate. The White House said no final decisions were reached on details of the farm program.

On other matters, there was new emphasis reported on federal aid to highway and school construction, and an expression of hope that the federal budget can be balanced.

There was no official word on a tax cut, and Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts said a final decision would have to await a clearer picture of finances.

George Sees Tax Cut

Eisenhower himself was represented as favoring the definite assurance of a balanced budget before offering a plan to cut taxes.

Sen. George (D-Ga) said he expected the new Congress would vote for a tax cut amounting to perhaps as much as 3½ billion dollars. George called for an increase in the personal exemption level from $600 to $700.

The White House conferences added up to 8½ hours, and Eisenhower put in a long day himself, although under doctors' orders to slow down his pace. Altogether he put in 5¼ hours in the conference room with time out for a long lunch-rest and later an official reception and tea.

The President is due for another examination at Gettysburg Saturday afternoon by Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist. Dr. White is to report his findings at a news conference later that day, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said.

Ike Works Seven Hours

The President's workday lasted nearly seven hours.

This included participation in long stretches of the conference with Republican leaders of Congress, work at his desk and an hour-long reception for the visiting President of Uruguay, Luis Battle Berres.

He did, however, take the prescribed 2½ hour period in midday for lunch and rest, including a nap.

The holding of the conference was accompanied by a new batch of statements from Republican leaders expressing confidence that Eisenhower will seek reelection next year. Reps. Martin of Massachusetts, Halleck of Indiana and Arends of Illinois, all House GOP leaders, were among those taking that view.

Gain For French Reds Expected

PARIS, Dec. 12 (AP)—French Communists today seem likely to gain a score of seats in the Jan. 2 election for the National Assembly though they may actually poll fewer votes than in the last election.

The prospect emerged as non-Communists continued to pile up rival candidacies before the midnight deadline for filing. The situation arises from the French election law, passed five years ago partly to cut down Communist parliamentary representation.

The law succeeded then, but rivalry among anti-Communists promises to reduce its efficiency this time.

It provides that parties may form alliances and an alliance winning a clear majority in any district can divide up that district's seats—sometimes as many as 11. If no alliance gets a clear majority, the seats are divided according to each party's voting strength, a system that favors the Communists since they get more votes than any other single party.

The alliances worked so long as the middle - of - the - road groups stayed together. They captured 40 out of 95 districts in 1951, leaving more than a million Communist voters with no representation at all. But this time there are two or more rival anti-Communist alliances, plus many independent candidacies, in 40 districts.

It seems virtually certain that the Communists will pick up seats in some of the districts where they were frozen out five years ago.

Eisenhower himself was represented as favoring the definite assurance of a balanced budget before offering a plan to cut taxes.

Sen. George (D-Ga) said he expected the new Congress would vote for a tax cut amounting to perhaps as much as 3½ billion dollars. George called for an increase in the personal exemption level from $600 to $700.

The White House conferences added up to 8½ hours, and Eisenhower put in a long day himself, although under doctors' orders to slow down his pace. Altogether he put in 5¼ hours in the conference room with time out for a long lunch-rest and later an official reception and tea.

The President is due for another examination at Gettysburg Saturday afternoon by Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist. Dr. White is to report his findings at a news conference later that day, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said.

Ike Works Seven Hours

The President's workday lasted nearly seven hours.

This included participation in long stretches of the conference with Republican leaders of Congress, work at his desk and an hour-long reception for the visiting President of Uruguay, Luis Battle Berres.

He did, however, take the prescribed 2½ hour period in midday for lunch and rest, including a nap.

The holding of the conference was accompanied by a new batch of statements from Republican leaders expressing confidence that Eisenhower will seek reelection next year. Reps. Martin of Massachusetts, Halleck of Indiana and Arends of Illinois, all House GOP leaders, were among those taking that view.

Syrian Border Battle Probed; Claims Conflict

JERUSALEM, Dec. 12 (AP)—U.N. truce observers hastened to the Syrian border today to investigate the latest crisis in the wavering peace between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

Israeli forces attacked four Syrian fortified posts overlooking the northeastern shore of the Sea of Galilee Sunday night and by Israeli account blew up the positions before retiring to their base after an all-night battle.

Reports on killed and wounded differed. Israeli sources said 55 Syrians were killed and 29 captured, against Israeli losses of four killed and 12 wounded. A Syrian army spokesman in Damascus said Syria's losses were 25 killed and 28 missing. The Damascus radio declared 100 Israeli soldiers were killed and wounded in the battle on the shores of the ancient sea.

Syrian spokesmen described the action as a surprise assault by commando units and two infantry brigades which were backed up by tanks, artillery and armored boats firing from the Sea of Galilee.

The four posts fell, the Syrians admitted, after four hours of fighting, but they said the Israelis were forced to withdraw after three more hours when they attempted to seize heights behind the posts. After that, the Syrians said, the Israelis were busy with ambulances removing their dead and wounded to their fishing village base at Ein Gev.

The Israelis said the attack was a punitive raid to silence Syrian guns which have been harassing Israeli fishing boats on the sea. A four-pronged assault was launched on an eight-mile front, they said, from the north where the Jordan flows into the sea and in the Kursi Naquart and Beth Habeq sectors.

Baltimore's Strip Pips Win In Court

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12 (AP)—Baltimore's strip pips won a legal battle today. They don't have to submit to the indignity of being registered, photographed and finger-printed by the police.

Judge Reuben Oppenheimer gladdened the hearts of the crowd along East Baltimore Street, variously known as "The Block" or "The Blot."

Judge Oppenheimer ruled the Baltimore Liquor Board did not have legal power to promulgate its new rule, No. 53.

Rule 53, enacted as the result of a grand jury investigation, provided that after approximately Jan. 1 all employes of places holding both liquor and live entertainment licenses would have to register, be finger-printed, and wear official police identification photographs.

Hunt For Coed's Killer Pressed

OMAHA, Dec. 12 (AP) — Police made a house-to-house search for clues today as they pressed for a quick break in their investigation of the slaying of Carolyn Nevins.

"I hope for early developments," said Detective Inspector Ernest Brown, the man who is directing the search for the slayer of the attractive 20-year-old University of Omaha coed.

The all-out investigation is producing a lot of possible leads, he said, and police feel sure they can sift something concrete from these.

Carolyn was found shot to death on a snow-covered campus roadway at 4:10 a.m. Saturday. That was about six hours after she left the university library where she worked.

One man questioned in the case was given a lie detector test and then released on an $100 appearance bond. A second man will be given a detector test tomorrow morning.

Invading Reds Suffer Beating In West Berlin

BERLIN, Dec. 12 (AP)—A throng of East German Communists took a beating from the clubs and water cannon of West Berlin police tonight in a riot that stemmed from a Red march on a French sector beer hall.

A tightly organized company of 250 of the riot police turned back the invaders—estimated to number more than 1,500—after an hourlong fight and arrested 366.

Eight women were among the prisoners.

Stahlhelm Reds' Target

The Communists braved 28-degree weather and the riot cannons' icy water, which froze almost as soon as it hit, for a demonstration against the Stahlhelm (Steel Helmet), a World War II veterans' organization which they call Fascist and militaristic.

They headed for Bober's Tavern, where a local chapter of the Stahlhelm recently scheduled a rally for tonight. Earlier Communist threats had frightened the tavern owner, however, and it was announced several days ago that this rally had been cancelled.

But the Communists marched anyway.

No Serious Injuries

Dozens of heads were clubbed. But there were no reports of serious injuries to any of the demonstrators. Two policemen were injured and taken to a hospital for first aid treatment.

The melee spread over nearly a square mile of town.

The demonstration had been whipped up by the Communist East Berlin press and radio, which regularly uses the Stahlhelm as a whipping boy.

The Communists particularly attacked the Stahlhelm president, former Nazi Field Marshal Albert Kesselring.

Government Eases Mortgage Credits

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—The government today announced a further slight easing on home mortgage credits.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board issued new rules establishing "standby credit" for savings and loan associations under which the latter may increase their borrowings from the bank to finance new housing construction.

Each member association may borrow an amount equivalent to 5 per cent of the total of withdrawable savings deposits held by it, the board said. However, the total borrowings, both old and new, may not exceed 10 per cent of such savings accounts.

U. N. Unit Ends Chores

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly's Political Committee finished its work for the current 10th annual session tonight. Only two of the seven working committees remain to do so. The three-month session is scheduled to end Friday.

Court To Rule If Firm Must Open Books To Union

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to rule on whether a company which says it cannot afford to grant a wage increase may be compelled to open its financial records to a union.

The court acted in response to a government contention that an employer could shut off wage negotiations merely by saying it is in no position to grant a wage increase.

Involved in the case are the Truitt Manufacturing Co., Greensboro, N. C., and the AFL Ironworkers Union.

The National Labor Relations Board ordered the company to open its financial books to the union when it contended it could not afford a wage increase demanded by the union. The Iron Workers Union, in the summer of 1953, had demanded a wage increase of 10 cents an hour. The company offered 2½ cents an hour more. The company said a strike was called when it rejected the union demand.

The U. S. Court of Appeals at Richmond overruled the NLRB. It held the Taft-Hartley Act does not require disclosure of financial records as a test of good faith bargaining.

In numerous decisions in the past, courts have held employers, in connection with collective bargaining negotiations, must provide unions with such things as wage and job classification data and seniority information.

But the question of whether a company may be required to open its financial records to a union has never been taken up by the Supreme Court.

Eight American Fliers Killed In Morocco Crash

TETUAN, Spanish Morocco, Dec. 12 (AP)—A four-engined U.S. C54 military transport crashed last night in the rugged Riff mountains, killing all eight airmen aboard, Spanish authorities said today. The wreckage burned.

The accident occurred in the Gomora region, near the border between French and Spanish Morocco.

The U.S. legation in Tangier said the plane was presumed to be on a flight from the United States to Wheelus Field, Tripoli.

Spanish authorities, however, said the plane — apparently from a Texas Air Force base—was returning to the United States from Tripoli when it crashed into the side of a 5,000-foot mountain in the Riff range.

Turncoat GI Freed By Chinese Reds

HONG KONG, Tuesday, Dec. 13 (AP)—Richard Roger Tenneson, 22, Alden, Minn., a turncoat GI who refused repatriation by the Communists after the Korean War, crossed from Red China into this British crown colony today.

Richard Tomlin of the American Red Cross, a U.S., consular representative and an officer of the British border police were on hand to receive him.

"Glacier Priest" Ill

NEWARK, N.Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—The Rev. Bernard R. Hubbard, famed "glacier priest" of Alaska, was reported in serious condition today after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage.

Gain For French Reds Expected

PARIS, Dec. 12 (AP)—French Communists today seem likely to gain a score of seats in the Jan. 2 election for the National Assembly though they may actually poll fewer votes than in the last election.

The prospect emerged as non-Communists continued to pile up rival candidacies before the midnight deadline for filing. The situation arises from the French election law, passed five years ago partly to cut down Communist parliamentary representation.

The law succeeded then, but rivalry among anti-Communists promises to reduce its efficiency this time.

It provides that parties may form alliances and an alliance winning a clear majority in any district can divide up that district's seats—sometimes as many as 11. If no alliance gets a clear majority, the seats are divided according to each party's voting strength, a system that favors the Communists since they get more votes than any other single party.

The alliances worked so long as the middle-of-the-road groups stayed together. They captured 40 out of 95 districts in 1951, leaving more than a million Communist voters with no representation at all. But this time there are two or more rival anti-Communist alliances, plus many independent candidacies, in 40 districts.

It seems virtually certain that the Communists will pick up seats in some of the districts where they were frozen out five years ago.

10-Year Test Shows Tooth Decay Cut By Fluoridation

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—A 10-year human test shows that adding sodium fluoride to drinking water is a "safe and effective" way of sharply reducing tooth decay in children, health leaders declared tonight.

They said it reduced decay and tooth loss by nearly 60 per cent, without any harm to children.

The "effectiveness and safety" are the prime findings from the famous Newburgh-Kingston study of tooth decay and fluoridation of water, said Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, New York State health commissioner.

The town of Newburgh, N.Y., 10 years ago began adding a little sodium fluoride to its public water, while Kingston, a nearby town of equal size, did not.

A final comprehensive report on this scientific test was presented by Dr. Hilleboe and other health experts at a conference of the New York Institute of Clinical Oral Pathology.

Highlights of these reports:

The study "has demonstrated beyong question of a doubt the effectiveness and the safety of water fluoridation as a public health procedure," said Dr. Hilleboe.

After 10 years, children in Newburgh aged 6 to 9 have 58 per cent less tooth decay and missing teeth than Kingston youngsters of the same ages. The Newburgh children have had fluoridated water all their lives, the Kingston children not.

The study finds 52 to 53 per cent less decay, missing and filled teeth among Newburgh children who now are 10 to 12 years old. It finds 48 per cent less among children aged 13 to 14, and 41 per cent less among 16-year-olds, whose first permanent molars were erupting when fluoridation began.

Russia Rebuffed On Cleric Issue

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—The United States has rejected Russia's newest request that Soviet Archbishop Boris be permitted to enter this country for an indefinite stay to carry out his duties as head of the Russian Orthodox Church in America.

At the same time, the State Department asked Russia to place no more obstacles in the way of permitting Father Louis Dion, an American Roman Catholic priest, to go to Moscow to minister to the religious needs of U.S. nationals there.

The department said the Soviet government's linking of the cases of Archbishop Boris and Father Dion "has tended to confuse the issues involved and to complicate a clear understanding of the U.S. government's position."

In its note, the United States expressed willingness to allow Archbishop Boris and an aide to make temporary visits to this country in order to tend to their administrative duties. The State Department insisted, however, that any Soviet clergyman staying indefinitely in the United States should be bound by the same regulations as are imposed on an American clergyman in the Soviet Union.

Colleges, Hospitals Share Foundation Record Gift

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP) — The Ford Foundation today in one stroke gave away half a billion dollars to colleges and hospitals—a sum roughly equal to $3 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

The gigantic gift, the largest single appropriation in the history of philanthropy, was 150 million dollars more than the foundation had given previously in its 19 years of existence.

The sum of 210 million was earmarked for all 615 regionally accredited, privately supported colleges and universities in the United States to help them raise teacher's salaries.

This was in addition to 50 million appropriated by the foundation last spring for this purpose.

Another 200 million was tagged for about 3,500 privately supported hospitals to help them improve and extend services to the public.

And 90 million was reserved for privately supported medical schools to help them strengthen their instruction methods.

The largest single grant — five million dollars—went to New York University.

Other large grants were $4,510,000 for Harvard, $4,000,900 for Yale, and $4,324,200 for the University of Chicago.

The smallest grant was $31,900 to California School of Fine Arts, San Francisco.

The top grant for hospitals, $250,000, went to 57 institutions. The minimum in this field was $10,000.

Butler Charges GOP 'Aggressor' In Class Strife

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (AP)—The running dispute between Democrats and Republicans over which party is waging class warfare brought from Paul M. Butler, Democratic national chairman, today the charge that Republicans are "the aggressor."

"Dangerous, divisive warfare which the Republican party has fomented and fought for a good many years," he called the GOP's actions.

Butler didn't say so but his blast obviously was aimed at Leonard Hall, Republican national chairman, who charged on Saturday that "for 25 years the New Deal and Fair Deal spokesmen have waged a class conflict."

Hall's statement countered a charge by Adlai Stevenson that certain Republicans are "playing ugly politics of group conflict and hatred." The GOP chairman labelled as untrue and "sheer bunk" the accusation made by Stevenson, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, in a speech last Thursday before the AFL-CIO convention in New York.

Butler's statement said:

"Every time a Democrat suggests that wealthy taxpayers and huge corporations should not be entitled to special privileges from the federal government, the Republican party automatically fires a barrage of charges that the Democrats are seeking to foment class warfare. The truth is there is no more harmful way of fomenting class warfare than for a political party—or a government operated by that party—to favor one group of its citizens at the expense of others, and that is what the Republican party is doing today and has done for a good many years."

Butler said "There is no end to the example of Republican attacks upon major segments of our country."

Failure To File Costly

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12 (AP)—Harvey L. Garrison, 60-year-old Baltimore Negro, today was fined $2,000 and sentenced to jail for nine months for failure to file a federal income tax return.

Prosecutors said Garrison failed to report almost $21,000 in income, including one $11,000 hit in a numbers lottery.

Locomotive Blast Fatal To Fireman

WYTHEVILLE, Va., Dec. 12 (AP)—An explosion wrecked a Norfolk and Western Railway locomotive near Wytheville today, killing the fireman and seriously injuring three other crewmen.

Dead was H. C. Hawthorne, 25, of Bristol.

N&W listed the injured as W. D. Shumate Jr., 45, of Radford, the engineer; M. B. Shorter, 29, of Salem, a student brakeman, and F. H. Sledd, 31, of Roanoke. Shumate and Shorter were reported in critical condition at a Wytheville hospital, where an attendant said Sledd was in serious condition.

The explosion shoved the big Y6 class engine off the tracks about two miles west of Wytheville. At least one house was damaged slightly from flying debris but no injuries were reported.

McKeldin Opens Part Of Beltway

TOWSON, Md., Dec. 12 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today opened the first stretch of what someday is to be a 30-mile, non-stop, four-lane expressway almost encircling Baltimore.

He took the occasion to report Maryland's 12-year, 568-million dollar highway building program is "moving ahead strictly on schedule."

"One sixth of its time has elapsed and one sixth of its money has been committed," the governor declared. "The 12-year program is now two years old. As of Dec. 1, a total of over 100 million dollars had been committed by the State Roads Commission in advertised or awarded contracts."

Today's ribbon snipping ceremony opened a short stretch of the "Baltimore Beltway," described by the governor as "our State's most ambitious urban highway project, an answer to the crawling blight of traffic stagnation."

The initial section connects Falls Road just north of Baltimore and west of Towson with the Harrisburg Expressway, a new route which parallels U. S. 111 and ultimately will run from Baltimore all the way to the Pennsylvania line.

Navy Asks Probe Of Crash Involving Sailor, Cop's Son

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 12 (AP)—The Navy today asked Baltimore authorities to investigate the arrest of a sailor whose car was involved in an accident with one driven by a police lieutenant's son.

The request said that an original charge of reckless driving against the sailor had been increased to drunken driving and failure to grant right-of-way an hour after the accident occurred and after he had been released by police with a summons. He was arrested and an "unconscionable" bond set, the complaint said.

Capt. J. C. Toth, chief of staff of the Severn River Naval Command, made the request in a letter to Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron of Baltimore and State's Atty. Anselm Sodaro.

The collision between the cars of Raymond DeRoh Jr., a sailor attached to a small-craft facility here, and William Boyle, son of Police Lt. James Boyle Jr., occurred Nov. 19 in Baltimore.

De Rolf was given a summons on the reckless driving charge by the investigating officer, Toth said. About an hour later, he said, DeRolf was arrested at the home of a friend and the two additional charges added. He was arrested and held under $1,600 bail until the money could be raised.

Toth said, "It is respectfully requested that an investigation be made of the accident and its developments and that this command be advised concerning the results."

Young Ministers Will Send Calves To Puerto Rico

WESTMINSTER, Md., Dec. 12 (AP)—The young preachers at Westminster Theological Seminary are sending heifer calves to 20 Puerto Rican farm boys for Christmas.

The calves will be loaded aboard a ship in Baltimore Thursday and are due in San Juan about three days later.

The Rev. Ellis Plyler, an agricultural missionary in Puerto Rico for the Methodist church, will supervise their distribution among the youngsters.

Plyler touched off the chain of events which put the seminarians and their week-end congregations to work rounding up heifers.

Plyler has a livestock training program for farm boys in Puerto Rico. Some of the youngsters saved up enough money to buy calves. But none were available.

Plyler appealed to Heifer Project, Inc., an interfaith organization at nearby New Windsor, Md, which has sent heifers, goats, baby chicks, sheep, horses, eggs, and pigs all over the world to put farmers on their feet again after they had been wiped out by war.

Dr. John B. Howes, professor of rural church work at the seminary, heard about Plyler's appeal. He presented the problem to one of his classes. The student body voted to see what it could do about rounding up calves.

Most of the young ministers have nearby churches where they preach on Sundays while working for their divinity degrees. Some farmers in their congregations donated heifers. Bible school classes took special offerings to buy some more.

Between 10,000 and 20,000 were offered on the auction's first day last Saturday. There will be another sale this Saturday.

It cost Don E. Dawes of Brookings, Ore., $2.50 just to mail in the payment, the State Tax Commission said.

Navy Asks Probe Of Crash Involving Sailor, Cop's Son

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 12 (AP)—The Navy today asked Baltimore authorities to investigate the arrest of a sailor whose car was involved in an accident with one driven by a police lieutenant's son.

The request said that an original charge of reckless driving against the sailor had been increased to drunken driving and failure to grant right-of-way an hour after the accident occurred and after he had been released by police with a summons. He was arrested and an "unconscionable" bond set, the complaint said.

Capt. J. C. Toth, chief of staff of the Severn River Naval Command, made the request in a letter to Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron of Baltimore and State's Atty. Anselm Sodaro.

The collision between the cars of Raymond DeRolt Jr., a sailor attached to a small-craft facility here, and William Boyle, son of Police Lt. James Boyle Jr., occurred Nov. 19 in Baltimore.

De Rolf was given a summons on the reckless driving charge by the investigating officer, Toth said. About an hour later, he said, DeRolf was arrested at the home of a friend and the two additional charges added. He was arrested and held under $1,600 bail until the money could be raised.

Toth said, "It is respectfully requested that an investigation be made of the accident and its developments and that this command be advised concerning the results."

Young Ministers Will Send Calves To Puerto Rico

WESTMINSTER, Md., Dec. 12 (AP)—The young preachers at Westminster Theological Seminary are sending heifer calves to 20 Puerto Rican farm boys for Christmas.

The calves will be loaded aboard a ship in Baltimore Thursday and are due in San Juan about three days later.

The Rev. Ellis Plyler, an agricultural missionary in Puerto Rico for the Methodist church, will supervise their distribution among the youngsters.

Plyler touched off the chain of events which put the seminarians and their week-end congregations to work rounding up heifers.

Plyler has a livestock training program for farm boys in Puerto Rico. Some of the youngsters saved up enough money to buy calves. But none were available.

Plyler appealed to Heifer Project, Inc., an interfaith organization at nearby New Windsor, Md, which has sent heifers, goats, baby chicks, sheep, horses, eggs, and pigs all over the world to put farmers on their feet again after they had been wiped out by war.

Dr. John B. Howes, professor of rural church work at the seminary, heard about Plyler's appeal. He presented the problem to one of his classes. The student body voted to see what it could do about rounding up calves.

Most of the young ministers have nearby churches where they preach on Sundays while working for their divinity degrees. Some farmers in their congregations donated heifers. Bible school classes took special offerings to buy some more.

RENO, Nev., Dec. 12 (AP)—Actress Rita Hayworth was granted a divorce today from her fourth husband, Dick Haymes.

Dist. Judge Grant L. Bowen granted the decree behind locked doors with only Haymes' and Miss Hayworth's lawyers present.

Rita sent a deposition by airmail from Paris, France, where she has been staying with her children for several months.

Haymes is currently filling a singing engagement in Las Vegas.

Holly Auction Sale Begins At Fruitland

FRUITLAND, Md., Dec. 12 (AP)—Fruitland's unique holly auction will open for its second round Wednesday, with the prospect that as many as 20,000 Christmas wreaths will be up for sale.

Cutting holly and making wreaths is a regular fall and winter occupation of many farm families in the lower counties of Maryland's Eastern Shore. The auction sale here is the only one of its kind on the East Coast.

Between 10,000 and 20,000 were offered on the auction's first day last Saturday. There will be another sale this Saturday.

It cost Don E. Dawes of Brookings, Ore., $2.50 just to mail in the payment, the State Tax Commission said.

Truck Control Planned For Big Savage

New rules — and extra State Police to enforce them — have been provided in an effort to end the runaway truck problem on Big Savage mountain, just west of Frostburg.

Lieut. E. W. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale Barracks of the State Police, said arrangements for extra troops for the special duty have not been completed, but in all probability will be made within the next week or so.

Supt. Elmer F. Munshower of the State Police announced Saturday his department will require all trucks to stop before proceeding in low gear down the east slope of the big mountain near Cumberland.

The State Roads Commission, he said, will erect signs informing truck drivers of the regulations.

Last Oct. 19, the brakes failed on a big truck and it careened about nine miles, through Frostburg and into the outskirts of Cumberland before it crashed into two vehicles with the loss of five lives. There have been other runaway accidents on the same stretch of U.S. 40.

Munshower said that from the top of Big Savage through Cumberland there is no upgrade sufficient to stop a runaway truck. As far as he knows, he said, there are only two other places in the United States where similar conditions exist.

The signs calling for a complete stop before starting down the mountain will apply to all vehicles except pleasure cars and buses.

Munshower said extra men will be assigned to the Cumberland State Police barracks to help enforce the new regulations.

The problem, according to Col. Munshower, was:

"The operator of a heavy vehicle traveling in a mountainous area learns to expect that after he descends a mountain a mile or two, he will begin ascending another mountain. If his brakes should fail, he anticipates 'riding out the descent' until he reaches the ascent, and no great amount of damage need be done.

"However, when he leaves the crest of Big Savage Mountain on the east slope, he has continuous downgrade which takes him, on the first two miles, through the city of Frostburg, and seven miles farther if he makes it, he arrives at Cumberland.

"Two miles beyond he starts climbing a mountain. There are some upgrades in this area, but past experience has proved that they are ineffective in materially reducing the speed of a heavy vehicle."

Col. Munshower said he believes there are only two other similar conditions in the United States, at Summit Mountain near Uniontown, Pa., and in New Mexico.

The Mountain Traffic Safety Committee visited Summit Mountain and got the idea there of having signs order drivers of trucks to stop, read them, and proceed in low gear.

"It is our earnest desire that such operators will comply voluntarily with the instructions on the signs at Big Savage Mountain," said Col. Munshower. "Those who do not, can expect strict enforcement.

"This procedure has solved the problem of runaway trucks in Pennsylvania. That is an established fact. We are not dealing with theory."

The signs calling for a complete stop before starting down the mountain will apply to all vehicles except pleasure cars and buses.

Pay Boosts Granted Three City Workers, Board

The Mayor and Council yesterday granted pay increases to three in classified service not covered by the wage hike order of September, and also boosted compensation for members of the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Granted a 10 per cent pay increase since they were not included in the general pay order of September 6 were City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, Dr. Leo H. Ley Jr., city physician, and Miss Phyllis Feaga, clerk-stenographer.

The increase is retroactive to July 1.

Compensation for members of the Board of Zoning Appeals was hiked from $10 to $25 a month retroactive to July 1, with the stipulation the board meet at least twice a month when such meetings are warranted. The board is required to meet once a month.

Council pointed out that the board's volume of business has tripled and it felt it unfair to a prospective builder to have him wait two and three weeks between meetings to have an application acted upon.

It was pointed out that building applications which violate the city building code are referred to the board for action.

City Attorney Finan said the extra meetings cannot be made mandatory and, if held, must be advertised in the same manner as the regular sessions.

Attorney Earl E. Manges, secretary of the Zoning Appeals Board, said it was willing to go along with the extra meeting idea if City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum so desires.

On another matter, Manges appeared for Clyde S. Slider who had purchased property in Dorn Addition. The property is sewered and Slider plans to build on part of the acquired property. However, about 90 feet is undesirable because of terrain and Slider would like a rebate on the sewer lien. Council took the matter under study.

Three Selectees Now In Navy

Three of the seven local men who left last week for induction into the armed forces were accepted for duty in the Navy, according to P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator for the local Selective Service Boards.

Fahey said yesterday that James W. Bible, Board 27, was assigned to the Navy and sent to Bainbridge for boot training. Also accepted for naval duty were Gene G. Weber, Board 28, and Edward J. Prendergast, Board 29.

James E. Wagner, Edward T. Rhodes, John C. Weatherholt and Billy J. Shaw were all accepted for Army duty and sent to Fort Jackson, S. C. for basic training, Fahey said.

City Lakes Drop Below Spillways

Lake Gordon is three feet below the crest of the spillway and Lake Koon seven feet below, C. L. Brotemarkle, assistant superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, reported to the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Water consumption for the week ending Sunday was 80,570,000 gallons compared to 101,210,000 the same period a year ago.

The Mountain Traffic Safety Committee visited Summit Mountain and got the idea there of having signs order drivers of trucks to stop, read them, and proceed in low gear.

"It is our earnest desire that such operators will comply voluntarily with the instructions on the signs at Big Savage Mountain," said Col. Munshower. "Those who do not, can expect strict enforcement.

"This procedure has solved the problem of runaway trucks in Pennsylvania. That is an established fact. We are not dealing with theory."

The signs calling for a complete stop before starting down the mountain will apply to all vehicles except pleasure cars and buses.

Pay Boosts Granted Three City Workers, Board

The Mayor and Council yesterday granted pay increases to three in classified service not covered by the wage hike order of September, and also boosted compensation for members of the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Granted a 10 per cent pay increase since they were not included in the general pay order of September 6 were City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, Dr. Leo H. Ley Jr., city physician, and Miss Phyllis Feaga, clerk-stenographer.

The increase is retroactive to July 1.

Compensation for members of the Board of Zoning Appeals was hiked from $10 to $25 a month retroactive to July 1, with the stipulation the board meet at least twice a month when such meetings are warranted. The board is required to meet once a month.

Council pointed out that the board's volume of business has tripled and it felt it unfair to a prospective builder to have him wait two and three weeks between meetings to have an application acted upon.

It was pointed out that building applications which violate the city building code are referred to the board for action.

City Attorney Finan said the extra meetings cannot be made mandatory and, if held, must be advertised in the same manner as the regular sessions.

Attorney Earl E. Manges, secretary of the Zoning Appeals Board, said it was willing to go along with the extra meeting idea if City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum so desires.

On another matter, Manges appeared for Clyde S. Slider who had purchased property in Dorn Addition. The property is sewered and Slider plans to build on part of the acquired property. However, about 90 feet is undesirable because of terrain and Slider would like a rebate on the sewer lien. Council took the matter under study.

City Lakes Drop Below Spillways

Lake Gordon is three feet below the crest of the spillway and Lake Koon seven feet below, C. L. Brotemarkle, assistant superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, reported to the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Water consumption for the week ending Sunday was 80,570,000 gallons compared to 101,210,000 the same period a year ago.

ARTHRITIS?

I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular soreness from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism, hands deformed and my ankles were set.

Limited space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me, I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.

Brothers Fined For Sending Jury Pamphlets

KINGWOOD, W. Va., Dec. 12 (AP) —Two brothers, one of them a former Preston County prosecutor, have been fined $50 each for contempt of court because of the sending of pamphlets to jurors in a murder case.

Judge Melvin C. Snyder of Preston Circuit Court imposed the fines on attorneys R. Doyne Halbritter of Kingwood, the former prosecutor, and Leslie Halbritter of Tunnelton.

An investigation was ordered by Judge Snyder on the basis of reports that pamphlets had been mailed for jurors called for the term of court at which a French war bride, Mrs. Rodette Rodeheaver, was tried on a murder charge in the shooting of her husband.

Mrs. Rodeheaver was convicted of involuntary manslaughter last month and sentenced to a year in prison.

The pamphlets from the Methodist Publishing House contained a story similar to the Rodeheaver case.

After an investigation by county and state officers, the case was turned over to a special committee of the Preston County Bar, which made a report to the court.

The Halbritters appeared voluntarily, without any action by a grand jury, and entered guilty pleas.

Neighbors, Red Cross Aid Victims Of Fire

MIDLAND—The Midland Branch of the Allegany County Red Cross, neighbors, relatives and friends went to the aid yesterday of a family which lost all their possessions in an early - morning fire, and a drive is planned in Midland by other organizations to help the family become established again in their home.

The blaze, believed caused by defective wiring destroyed the 10 room dwelling occupied by Mrs. Catherine Brinegar on Vale Summit Road, about one-half mile from here, early Monday morning. The house was occupied by Mrs. Brinegar, three daughters and a three-year-old grandchild. They lost everything except night clothing they were wearing when they ran from the flame-swept structure into the winter night.

Firemen said the family awakened shortly after midnight to discover the two-story frame house filled with smoke. One of the daughters ran the half-mile to Midland where she aroused neighbors and summoned the Midland Volunteer Fire Department. Firemen said they had difficulty getting water on the flames, as a nearby creek was frozen over, and when the ice was broken, there was not enough water for the pumper. Firemen called neighboring firemen for assistance and several units sent men and equipment. Firemen said the building burned so violently that flames shot several hundred feet into the air and heat was intense 100 yards from the burning residence.

Mrs. Brinegar lived at this residence with her daughters Edith Brinegar, a senior at Beall High School, Frostburg, and Bonnie Brinegar, a sophomore at Beall, and Mrs. Ruth Steele, and the latter's three-year-old child. Mrs. Steele is the wife of Calvin Steele, who is now in training to become a Maryland State Police trooper.

Following the blaze, which brought volunteer firemen to the scene from Lonaconing, Barton, Shaft and Frostburg as well as all Midland volunteers, the neighbors provided shelter for the fire victims.

Mrs. Brinegar is staying with Mrs. Marie Dunn. One daughter is staying at the home of Mrs. Ed Eisentrout and another at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fleegle. Mrs. Steele is at Lonaconing with her husband's parents and has her three-year-old baby with her there.

The family is making arrangements, Mrs. Ed Smith, Red Cross branch chairman said last night, to move into a property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Barry on Koontz Avenue. This property was occupied by Mr. Barry's mother who died about two weeks ago and is completely furnished. Barry offered it to Mrs. Brinegar until the family can decide their definite plans.

In the meantime the Red Cross took the family to a Lonaconing store and provided each member with a complete outfit of clothing. The Red Cross has also furnished them with coal, wood, extra bedding and linens and an emergency food order for use when they move into the Barry property today today or tomorrow.

Last night it was also reported that women's organizations and auxiliaries in Midland are planning to designate two members from each group to make a solicitation of the community and vicinity to raise funds to assist the family on their way to rehabilitation. Mineral County Miner Killed By Rock Fall

EMORYVILLE—A Mineral county coal miner was crushed to death early yesterday, minutes after his boss had warned him of the danger of a large rock under which he was working.

Killed was Clement Reed, about 40, of near Emoryville, who failed to regain consciousness after being pinned under the large slab at approximately 8:15 a. m.

The fatal accident occurred in the Abernathy mine near Hartmansville as Reed was loading coal. Shortly after Louis Abernathy, in charge of operations at the mine, warned Reed to get out from under a large rock as it "looked dangerous," he heard a rumble and returned to find Reed pinned beneath the huge stone.

Abernathy and other workmen including Troxell Durst, a driver who found him, managed to get him from under the rock fall and to the mine entrance. An ambulance was called but Reed was dead by the time it arrived shortly after nine a. m. He died of chest and internal injuries.

Unmarried, Reed was a son of Clarence Reed, Emoryville, and the late Mrs. Reed.

Retained Earnings And Dividend Checks

The December outflow of dividend checks to stockholders in U. S. corporations (estimated at over $2.3 billion) will bring this year's total dividend payments to an estimated $11.2 billion. This is an increase of more than 10 per cent over last year's total distribution.

The 1955 showing is highly pleasing to most stockholders, although many believe that leading corporations could have paid much more than was actually authorized by their directors. This year's pay-out will amount to only about one-half of corporation earnings after taxes; in years before the war this ratio averaged more than 70 per cent. In 1952 it was 59 per cent, and in 1954, 56 per cent.

U. S. corporations are looking more and more to retained earnings, less and less to new security issues, as the source of capital for plant expansion and new equipment. In the last four years they have laid out an average of $25 billion annually for growth and replacement. Next year's capital outlays are expected to top $30 billion.

While these expenditures increase the book value of investors' security holdings, they do not necessarily result in a corresponding rise in corporation earnings or in the market value of corporations' stocks. In many cases the plough-back is essential if the corporation is simply to retain its place in our competitive economy.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Outer Mongolia

The proposal to include Mongolia in the membership of the United Nations is a dishonest trick, designed to bring Red China into that body by another name. Outer Mongolia is by all the rules of international law a province of Red China. It has never been recognized as a sovereign state except by Red China and the Soviet Universal State.

The Mongols under Genghis Khan and his descendants in the 12th Century conquered both Russia and China, as well as India. On the whole, it can be said that the Mongols were better conquerors than administrators. They lacked a sense of nationality; they were not race conscious nor did they have religious prejudices. Therefore they were absorbed by those whom they conquered. Leaving their lair in the vicinity of Lake Baikal a powerful people, they changed into a soft, effete race in a short time and were overcome in Russia by the Duke of Moscovy, in China by the Ming Dynasty and in India by the British. The descendants of the Mongols are everywhere in small pockets under various names.

Mongolia is an undefined territory lying between Siberia and China, sparsely settled, about 1,700,000 square miles in area. Up to about 1925, these Mongols lived in a pre-Genghis Khan economy and social structure, grazing sheep, horses and cattle. About one quarter of their land is desert, with small rivers that disappear. Since 1925, there has been a degree of industrialization and urbanization. The richest area is in the Altai mountains which is well watered. However, the Gobi Desert alone covers about 200,000 square miles, and no important culture can exist there. The Mongols therefore, have often in their history been forced to push forward for food. Urga, a city with which I have some familiarity, is the most important in the entire region.

Because of geographical propinquity and Russian activity, even under the czars, while all the provinces of Mongolia were part of China, the pull of sentiment was toward Russia. The Chinese tried to solve this particular problem by sending hordes of Chinese into Mongolia for permanent settlement, as China had done successfully in Manchuria. However, the Mongols resented Chinese occupation, a resentment that was stimulated by the Russians and by Mongols who lived in Siberia, in such cities as Irkutsk, Verkne-Udinsk, Kiakhta and Chita.

After the revolution of 1911 in China, Russia set up a protectorate of Mongolia, particularly as the Mongol princes contended that they owed no loyalty to the Republic of China, only to the Manchu emperors who had been dethroned.

Outer Mongolia made itself independent of China but under the protection of Russia; Inner Mongolia consisted of Chinese provinces. In a series of secret treaties with Japan, beginning in 1912, Mongolia was divided into two spheres of influence, one Russian, the other Japanese. China never recognized these arrangements as valid, but China did, in 1913, recognize the autonomy of Outer Mongolia, Czarist Russia recognized China a suzerain. This was confirmed by the Treaty of Kiakhta in 1915.

After the Russian Revolution of 1917, China pushed back into Mongolia, ostensibly to prevent Attaman Semenov from establishing a Pan-Mongolian state with himself at the head of it.

A revolution occurred in Mongolia in September 1921, and the Peoples Revolutionary government came into existence as a Russian satellite—the first satellite. They signed a secret treaty which contained this clause:

"1. The Russian Soviet and the Revolutionary Mongol government recognize each other as the only governments in the territory of Russia and Mongolia."

This eliminated China completely. However, by the Sino-Soviet Treaty of 1924, Outer Mongolia was recognized nominally as an integral part of China. Nevertheless, the Mongolian Republic became part of the Soviet Universal State and has been such since 1921. The advent of Mao Tze-tung's Red Chinese regime only confirmed the fact that Mongolia is a Russian satellite.

It is obvious that as Red China has not been able to get into the United Nations, the present fight to get Mongolia into it is a Red Chinese trick to get in vicariously. The United States has no reason to consent to such a device, never having recognized Mongolia as a sovereign state.

Facts Of International Life Not Told To People

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The American people have not yet been given the "facts of international life," particularly in connection with the new formula of "competitive co-existence" which is supposed to describe the battle of the East and West to win "neutralist" countries.

The discussion at present is confined to the inner councils of the administration, but Congress is bound to bring it all out in the open in the coming session.

The point at issue is this: how long can the American taxpayers be expected to spend billions of dollars abroad without getting some direct benefit in the way of national security?

Raises Questions

Should the United States, for example, by furnishing economic aid, bid for the friendship of India and other Asian countries or of Egypt in the Middle East? Is it the duty of the Asian countries themselves to ward off communism or is it the obligation of the United States to persuade and cajole them with dollars to do what they ought to do anyhow? Why should it be necessary to bribe nations to be realistic in the face of the record of Communist aggression?

These questions go to the heart of the controversies that have arisen in Asia and the Middle East where America now is placed in the position of either agreeing to furnish billions of dollars of help or else seeing the various countries allegedly "being pushed into the arms of Moscow."

What is difficult for the average observer to understand is why the government of India, for instance, has to be urged with dollars to choose the West instead of the East and why Egypt thinks her independence could ever possibly be protected by the Soviet Union.

A policy that is bound to be given consideration here is whether it wouldn't be a good idea to let India know that if Nehru and his sinister handyman — Krishna Menon — want to embrace Communist imperialism and allow themselves to become the puppets of Moscow in the international field, the United States may say: "Go ahead, put yourselves under the Communist yoke and when you have experienced its 'joys' long enough and see the dangers to your independence, come back to us—if you can then get disentangled—and we will welcome you as a loyal ally."

Money Won't Be Easy

Indications are that "neutralist" countries like India, which cannot seem to make up their minds whether they want to tie up with gangster governments or with free governments, will have a hard time getting economic aid from the Congress of the United States. Democrats as well as Republicans think very much the same about it. The American policy is bound to be selective.

Everybody knows that Israel, on the other hand, is innately imbued with Western ideals. There is naturally a strong pro-American sentiment in Israel and a strong pro-Israel sentiment in the United States just as there have always been strong ties between Americans of Irish ancestry and Ireland. The first allegiance of the American Jews is to the United States, but it is natural for many of them for sentimental reasons along with many non-Jews to be deeply sympathetic with the efforts of the infant Republic of Israel to preserve her independence in the troubled Middle East.

The principle involved is not a "Jewish question." In fact, in recent months it has become an American defense question due to Egypt's peculiar behavior.

It looks now as if it will be to the best interests of the United States government to play ball with Israel and, if necessary, to furnish military aid as in the case of Iran, Iraq, Pakistan, Turkey and Greece. For Israel, unlike Egypt, has not tried to play the Western Alliance off against the Kremlin in a sort of bidding match.

Standing By Friends

The policy of standing by Americas' friends and allies is well illustrated in the statement made by Secretary of State Dulles about "Portuguese provinces" which has been criticized by some Democratic politicians as indiscreet. But Mr. Dulles in his implicit opposition to aggression either with respect to GOA, the Portuguese colony on the West Coast of India, or Macao, which is off the coast of Red China, was rightly positive and not indiscreet at all. He might well have gone further and bluntly reminded the Indian government that Portugal is our ally, and holds the Azores—a very vital base for our air force and our Navy in the Atlantic Ocean. It is a thousand times more necessary to stand by a long time friend like Portugal than to worry about hurt feelings in New Delhi where the steady tirade of insults against the United States during the last few years has not gone unnoticed in this country.

Not only is America unable to afford large expenditures of taxpayers' money to "buy" allies in Asia where hundreds of millions of people still live under primitive conditions — but Russia cannot really do it either. It may be better policy, moreover, to let Russia try to take on the job. The larger the external burdens Moscow undertakes with heavy drains on capital goods, the greater the internal pressures. Likewise, the longer the needed consumer goods are withheld from the Russian people the sooner will come the day of the crackup of the Kremlin.

Taft Wing Of GOP Wants To Force Showdown On President's Decision

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The long-concealed irritation of Taft Republicans over the delayed decision on Ike's ability to run again, is now coming out into the open.

It first cropped out when strong Faltites like Congressman Carroll Reece of Tennessee and Walter Hallanan of West Virginia stayed away from Len Hall's GOP rally in Chicago. It became even more evident when Senator Bill Knowland of California, who inherited Taft's shoes in the Senate, stepped out of a Gettysburg conference with Ike to say he was not at all sure the President would run again.

Now it's definite that Knowland, acknowledged leader of the old Taft forces, will run for President himself if Ike doesn't announce by February 1.

Behind all this are two convictions on the part of many Republicans:

1. That a political party is like a ball team. Its strength depends on farm teams and their development of young players. Republicans saw the Democrats suffer from lack of young talent during the years of Roosevelt; now they see the Republicans failing to develop young leaders because of too much concentration on one man.

2. There is still a strong resentment against ex-Gov. Tom Dewey and a conviction that he is trying to control the next nomination.

Dewey Surrounds Ike

Dewey has already been one of the most powerful men inside the Eisenhower administration, even though not in Washington. His old press secretary, Jim Hagerty, is now one of the men closest to Eisenhower. His former campaign manager, Herbert Brownell, is now one of the cabinet members closest to Ike. And it was Dewey who picked two other members of the cabinet, Secretary of State Dulles, and Secretary of Labor Mitchell—though they have largely kept out of politics. Finally, it was Dewey who picked the GOP national chairman, Len Hall.

This alone makes the Taft wing of the party sore. But on top of that they see Eisenhower's medical report postponed until February or March when it will be late for them to develop candidates and when the Dewey crowd can more easily slip one of its men, possibly Tom Dewey himself, into the nomination.

This is behind the slow burn in one wing of the GOP, and why Bill Knowland, whose candid honesty everyone admires, no matter how much they may disagree, has called for a showdown on whether Ike will run.

Battle Of Airways

Such top Democrats as Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas and Senator Mike Monroney of Oklahoma came back to Washington for the "bipartisan" conferences with blood in their eye.

Chief reason for the blood was the manner in which General Eisenhower has talked about a bipartisan approach and then taken a strictly partisam tack. Specifically, they are sore over the way Democratic posts on various quasi-judicial agencies have been filled by "Republicrats." Under the law they must be filled by the opposite political party, but most of them vote with the administration.

What raised the hackles on Democratic leaders backs is the firing of Josh Lee from the Civil Aeronautics Board after many years of faithful service. Lee, a Democrat, served with Sam Rayburn in the House of Representatives and later in the Senate from Oklahoma. His chief trouble is that he has long fought against the big two of air—Pan American Airways and American Airlines.

He is now being relieved by Eisenhower in favor of G. Joseph Minetti, a Dewey Democrat from New York. Most significant fact regarding Minetti's appointment is that it was pushed by O. M. Mosier, vice president of American Airlines.

Minetti's appointment will give the big airlines another vote on the CAB, a vote they badly need.

For just recently, November 15, the CAB voted 3-2 to strengthen small non-sked air lines, let them operate as "supplemental air carriers." Lee was one of those voting for the non-skeds, together with Chairman Ross Rizley, Republican of Oklahoma, and Joe Adams. Rizley, however, is slated to become a federal judge in January, which, with Lee's ouster, will reverse the balance and make the board big-air minded.

Behind this shift is the new policy of Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks and his deputy, Louis Rothschild, who believe in stabilizing the airlines more or less as is. They don't want more competition.

Democratic leaders got irritated last summer when Senator Jim Mead of New York, a Democrat, was ousted from a place on the Federal Trade Commission supposed to be held by a Democrat. Now that another Democratic ex-senator, Josh Lee, is ousted, they are doing a slow burn.

"The bipartisan policy," they say, "must be a two-way street."

Washington Pipeline

There's an argument inside the Republican high command as to whether Vice President Nixon should talk to the big Republican rally saluting Eisenhower January 20. Ike will talk on a closed circuit TV hook-up to Republican rallies all over the country. And Nixon, who'll be speaking at the Chicago rally, thinks his speech ought to be broadcast over the same TV hook-up. However, Assistant President Sherman Adams, Attorney General Herbert Brownell, and Chairman Len Hall want to keep Nixon out of the act. If Nixon wins the argument it means he'll be in a better spot to run in '56 . . . The National Security Council held a special meeting to hear reports on the latest Russian H-bomb explosion. They were told the Soviet bomb exploded with the force of 13,000,000 tons of TNT. The largest American explosion was equivalent to 17,000,000 tons . . . Ambassador Alexis Johnson has been ordered to make one last effort to persuade the Chinese Reds to free the remaining Americans held in Chinese jails. If this fails, Johnson will finally break off his long negotiations with the Chinese. . . . Maryland's GOP Governor, Ted McKeldin, sent a copy of ex-President Truman's memoirs to Truman with a request for the author's autograph.

Inside Washington

By Central Press

WASHINGTON—The spotlight of world attention will focus on the White House January 30 with the meeting there of President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Anthony Eden since the subject of discussion will be on Anglo-American policy and strategy for combatting the newly hypoed cold war maneuvers of Russia.

There has been strong sentiment in London for the forthcoming Eisenhower-Eden talks in view of the failure of the Geneva conference and Russia's new attitude toward the Western powers.

British diplomats feel that United States-British policy must be coordinated to meet the unfolding Soviet threat of trying to win influence with a "salesmanship" campaign.

Wilson Is Blamed

In congressional circles, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson is being blamed for the Army's inability to court-martial three ex-GIs who went over to the Communists in Korea.

The former servicemen, who later returned home, cannot be prosecuted by the Army because the Supreme Court has invalidated a key provision of the Uniform Code of Military Justice authorizing such action.

Rep. Paul Kilday (D), Texas, a top-ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee which initiated the military code in 1950, pointed out that the men had been dishonorably discharged at Wilson's order.

Kilday remarked, "That was a mistake. If they had not been discharged, they would still be in the Army and thus subject to court-martial proceedings. Now it is doubtful that Congress can do anything except make sure it doesn't happen again."

ICC In The News

The Interstate Commerce Commission is one of those government agencies that goes along for years without making headlines. Recently, however, the ICC was very much in the news with the resignation of its chairman, Hugh W. Cross, and with its decision banning segregation in interstate rail and bus travel.

The ICC is in for some continued interest since there are now two commission vacancies which President Eisenhower is expected to fill shortly. His choice will be watched by both parties. Democrats will look closely for any appointment they consider indicates a bias toward the railroads, buses or trucklines which the ICC is charged with regulating.

For Mr. Eisenhower, filling the jobs will be a ticklish situation. At least one of his appointees must be a Democrat since the ICC is, by law, a bipartisan agency. He could pick two Democrats because there are now only four of them on the commission and six of its 11 members—but no more—may be from the same political party.

Republicans, of course, are going to plump for one of their members. In other words, almost anything the President does is bound to come in for some close political scrutiny—and hit the headlines.

McKeldin For Veep

Recent Republican attacks on labor unions haven't the unanimous backing of the GOP. In fact, whether or not he runs again in 1956, President Eisenhower is likely to repudiate some of the more violent accusations made by members of his party against the unions.

The most prominent of these charges have been made by Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland of California and Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

A tip-off of the split that this provoked within the GOP came from Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland, a Republican. He immediately spoke out against the Knowland-Goldwater statements—with some interesting political ramifications.

McKeldin was promptly contacted by the supporters of California's Gov. Goodwin Knight. The Maryland governor was asked how he would like running for vice president on a GOP ticket headed by Knight.

Although he didn't reply, the significance lies in the fact that it was McKeldin who nominated Mr. Eisenhower at the 1952 convention—and Knight has gotten much of his political support in California from labor leaders.

New Syndrome Is Added To Medical Knowledge

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

A syndrome is a group of symptoms constituting a disease. Many syndromes are described in medical textbooks and from time to time new ones are added. The latest is the hypersensitive xiphoid, described recently by a group of Cornel University physicians.

In everyday language, the term means tenderness of the small bone that protrudes from the lower end of the breastbone (xiphoid). This structure projects into the solar plexus and is sensitive to pressure. But in this syndrome, actual pain occurs with moderate fingertip pressure.

The victim usually comes to the physician complaining of pain in shoulder, chest, or upper abdomen. The bout may be precipitated by exercise or change of position. A disturbance of the heart or gall bladder may be suspected, but the real diagnosis is made when distress follows placing pressure over the xiphoid.

In this respect, the bone is the trigger that sets off distress. Discomfort may occur during routine exertion when the xiphoid is squeezed while bending, stooping, lifting, eating a large meal, turning in bed, or walking. As a result, stimulation of nerve centers extends into neighboring structures.

Distress varies in location, severity, and duration, but the most common area is deep in the chest, behind the breastbone. It may radiate from there to the upper abdomen, back, shoulders, or heart. It can be likened to the aching caused by a blow to the solar plexus; not agonizing but severe enough to disturb sleep.

A young physician suffered from pain in the left shoulder and upper arm whenever he walked uphill. He was certain he had angina pectoris until pressure over the xiphoid process reproduced soreness. A patient with gall bladder trouble reacted to xiphoid pressure with biliary symptoms. Cure followed removal of the gall bladder.

In another victim with discomfort indistinguishable from angina pectoris, pressure on the xiphoid brought not only pain but faintness, blanching, and sweating. Discomfort lasted for 10 hours after the test was made. The patient had coronary disease and pressure over the xiphoid resulted in cardiac distress.

Several remedies are available. Improvement follows the injection of procaine into the solar plexus or spraying the overlying skin with ethyl chloride. Removing the basic disorder, as in the patient with gall bladder disease, also helps. Reassurance is needed because these people are convinced that a serious condition exists.

Retained Earnings And Dividend Checks

The December outflow of dividend checks to stockholders in U. S. corporations (estimated at over $2.3 billion) will bring this year's total dividend payments to an estimated $11.2 billion. This is an increase of more than 10 per cent over last year's total distribution.

The 1955 showing is highly pleasing to most stockholders, although many believe that leading corporations could have paid much more than was actually authorized by their directors. This year's pay-out will amount to only about one-half of corporation earnings after taxes; in years before the war this ratio averaged more than 70 per cent. In 1952 it was 59 per cent, and in 1954, 56 per cent.

U. S. corporations are looking more and more to retained earnings, less and less to new security issues, as the source of capital for plant expansion and new equipment. In the last four years they have laid out an average of $25 billion annually for growth and replacement. Next year's capital outlays are expected to top $30 billion.

While these expenditures increase the book value of investors' security holdings, they do not necessarily result in a corresponding rise in corporation earnings or in the market value of corporations' stocks. In many cases the plough-back is essential if the corporation is simply to retain its place in our competitive economy.

Outer Mongolia

The proposal to include Mongolia in the membership of the United Nations is a dishonest trick, designed to bring Red China into that body by another name. Outer Mongolia is by all the rules of international law a province of Red China. It has never been recognized as a sovereign state except by Red China and the Soviet Universal State.

The Mongols under Genghis Khan and his descendants in the 12th Century conquered both Russia and China, as well as India. On the whole, it can be said that the Mongols were better conquerors than administrators. They lacked a sense of nationality; they were not race conscious nor did they have religious prejudices. Taft Wing Of GOP Wants To Force Showdown On President's Decision

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The long-concealed irritation of Taft Republicans over the delayed decision on Ike's ability to run again, is now coming out into the open.

Democratic leaders got irritated last summer when Senator Jim Mead of New York, a Democrat, was ousted from a place on the Federal Trade Commission supposed to be held by a Democrat. Now that another Democratic ex-senator, Josh Lee, is ousted, they are doing a slow burn.

"The bipartisan policy," they say, "must be a two-way street."

There's an argument inside the Republican high command as to whether Vice President Nixon should talk to the big Republican rally saluting Eisenhower January 20. Ike will talk on a closed circuit TV hook-up to Republican rallies all over the country. And Nixon, who'll be speaking at the Chicago rally, thinks his speech ought to be broadcast over the same TV hook-up. However, Assistant President Sherman Adams, Attorney General Herbert Brownell, and Chairman Len Hall want to keep Nixon out of the act. If Nixon wins the argument it means he'll be in a better spot to run in '56 . . . The National Security Council held a special meeting to hear reports on the latest Russian H-bomb explosion. They were told the Soviet bomb exploded with the force of 13,000,000 tons of TNT. The largest American explosion was equivalent to 17,000,000 tons . . . Ambassador Alexis Johnson has been ordered to make one last effort to persuade the Chinese Reds to free the remaining Americans held in Chinese jails. If this fails, Johnson will finally break off his long negotiations with the Chinese. . . . Maryland's GOP Governor, Ted McKeldin, sent a copy of ex-President Truman's memoirs to Truman with a request for the author's autograph.

Facts Of International Life Not Told To People

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The American people have not yet been given the "facts of international life," particularly in connection with the new formula of "competitive co-existence" which is supposed to describe the battle of the East and West to win "neutralist" countries.

The discussion at present is confined to the inner councils of the administration, but Congress is bound to bring it all out in the open in the coming session.

The point at issue is this: how long can the American taxpayers be expected to spend billions of dollars abroad without getting some direct benefit in the way of national security?

Raises Questions

Should the United States, for example, by furnishing economic aid, bid for the friendship of India and other Asian countries or of Egypt in the Middle East? Is it the duty of the Asian countries themselves to ward off communism or is it the obligation of the United States to persuade and cajole them with dollars to do what they ought to do anyhow? Why should it be necessary to bribe nations to be realistic in the face of the record of Communist aggression?

These questions go to the heart of the controversies that have arisen in Asia and the Middle East where America now is placed in the position of either agreeing to furnish billions of dollars of help or else seeing the various countries allegedly "being pushed into the arms of Moscow."

What is difficult for the average observer to understand is why the government of India, for instance, has to be urged with dollars to choose the West instead of the East and why Egypt thinks her independence could ever possibly be protected by the Soviet Union.

A policy that is bound to be given consideration here is whether it wouldn't be a good idea to let India know that if Nehru and his sinister handyman — Krishna Menon — want to embrace Communist imperialism and allow themselves to become the puppets of Moscow in the international field, the United States may say: "Go ahead, put yourselves under the Communist yoke and when you have experienced its 'joys' long enough and see the dangers to your independence, come back to us—if you can then get disentangled—and we will welcome you as a loyal ally."

Money Won't Be Easy

Indications are that "neutralist" countries like India, which cannot seem to make up their minds whether they want to tie up with gangster governments or with free governments, will have a hard time getting economic aid from the Congress of the United States. Democrats as well as Republicans think very much the same about it. The American policy is bound to be selective.

Everybody knows that Israel, on the other hand, is innately imbued with Western ideals. There is naturally a strong pro-American sentiment in Israel and a strong pro-Israel sentiment in the United States just as there have always been strong ties between Americans of Irish ancestry and Ireland. The first allegiance of the American Jews is to the United States, but it is natural for many of them for sentimental reasons along with many non-Jews to be deeply sympathetic with the efforts of the infant Republic of Israel to preserve her independence in the troubled Middle East.

The principle involved is not a "Jewish question." In fact, in recent months it has become an American defense question due to Egypt's peculiar behavior.

It looks now as if it will be to the best interests of the United States government to play ball with Israel and, if necessary, to furnish military aid as in the case of Iran, Iraq, Pakistan, Turkey and Greece. For Israel, unlike Egypt, has not tried to play the Western Alliance off against the Kremlin in a sort of bidding match.

Standing By Friends

The policy of standing by Americas' friends and allies is well illustrated in the statement made by Secretary of State Dulles about "Portuguese provinces" which has been criticized by some Democratic politicians as indiscreet. But Mr. Dulles in his implicit opposition to aggression either with respect to GOA, the Portuguese colony on the West Coast of India, or Macao, which is off the coast of Red China, was rightly positive and not indiscreet at all. He might well have gone further and bluntly reminded the Indian government that Portugal is our ally, and holds the Azores—a very vital base for our air force and our Navy in the Atlantic Ocean. It is a thousand times more necessary to stand by a long time friend like Portugal than to worry about hurt feelings in New Delhi where the steady tirade of insults against the United States during the last few years has not gone unnoticed in this country.

Not only is America unable to afford large expenditures of taxpayers' money to "buy" allies in Asia where hundreds of millions of people still live under primitive conditions — but Russia cannot really do it either. It may be better policy, moreover, to let Russia try to take on the job. The larger the external burdens Moscow undertakes with heavy drains on capital goods, the greater the internal pressures. Likewise, the longer the needed consumer goods are withheld from the Russian people the sooner will come the day of the crackup of the Kremlin.

Inside Washington

By Central Press

WASHINGTON—The spotlight of world attention will focus on the White House January 30 with the meeting there of President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Anthony Eden since the subject of discussion will be on Anglo-American policy and strategy for combatting the newly hypoed cold war maneuvers of Russia.

There has been strong sentiment in London for the forthcoming Eisenhower-Eden talks in view of the failure of the Geneva conference and Russia's new attitude toward the Western powers.

British diplomats feel that United States-British policy must be coordinated to meet the unfolding Soviet threat of trying to win influence with a "salesmanship" campaign.

Wilson Is Blamed

In congressional circles, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson is being blamed for the Army's inability to court-martial three ex-GIs who went over to the Communists in Korea.

The former servicemen, who later returned home, cannot be prosecuted by the Army because the Supreme Court has invalidated a key provision of the Uniform Code of Military Justice authorizing such action.

Rep. Paul Kilday (D), Texas, a top-ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee which initiated the military code in 1950, pointed out that the men had been dishonorably discharged at Wilson's order.

Kilday remarked, "That was a mistake. If they had not been discharged, they would still be in the Army and thus subject to court-martial proceedings. Now it is doubtful that Congress can do anything except make sure it doesn't happen again."

ICC In The News

The Interstate Commerce Commission is one of those government agencies that goes along for years without making headlines. Recently, however, the ICC was very much in the news with the resignation of its chairman, Hugh W. Cross, and with its decision banning segregation in interstate rail and bus travel.

The ICC is in for some continued interest since there are now two commission vacancies which President Eisenhower is expected to fill shortly. His choice will be watched by both parties. Democrats will look closely for any appointment they consider indicates a bias toward the railroads, buses or trucklines which the ICC is charged with regulating.

For Mr. Eisenhower, filling the jobs will be a ticklish situation. At least one of his appointees must be a Democrat since the ICC is, by law, a bipartisan agency. He could pick two Democrats because there are now only four of them on the commission and six of its 11 members—but no more—may be from the same political party.

Republicans, of course, are going to plump for one of their members. In other words, almost anything the President does is bound to come in for some close political scrutiny—and hit the headlines.

McKeldin For Veep

Recent Republican attacks on labor unions haven't the unanimous backing of the GOP. In fact, whether or not he runs again in 1956, President Eisenhower is likely to repudiate some of the more violent accusations made by members of his party against the unions.

The most prominent of these charges have been made by Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland of California and Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

A tip-off of the split that this provoked within the GOP came from Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland, a Republican. He immediately spoke out against the Knowland-Goldwater statements—with some interesting political ramifications.

McKeldin was promptly contacted by the supporters of California's Gov. Goodwin Knight. The Maryland governor was asked how he would like running for vice president on a GOP ticket headed by Knight.

Although he didn't reply, the significance lies in the fact that it was McKeldin who nominated Mr. Eisenhower at the 1952 convention—and Knight has gotten much of his political support in California from labor leaders.

New Syndrome Is Added To Medical Knowledge

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

A syndrome is a group of symptoms constituting a disease. Many syndromes are described in medical textbooks and from time to time new ones are added. The latest is the hypersensitive xiphoid, described recently by a group of Cornel University physicians.

In everyday language, the term means tenderness of the small bone that protrudes from the lower end of the breastbone (xiphoid). This structure projects into the solar plexus and is sensitive to pressure. But in this syndrome, actual pain occurs with moderate fingertip pressure.

The victim usually comes to the physician complaining of pain in shoulder, chest, or upper abdomen. The bout may be precipitated by exercise or change of position. A disturbance of the heart or gall bladder may be suspected, but the real diagnosis is made when distress follows placing pressure over the xiphoid.

In this respect, the bone is the trigger that sets off distress. Discomfort may occur during routine exertion when the xiphoid is squeezed while bending, stooping, lifting, eating a large meal, turning in bed, or walking. As a result, stimulation of nerve centers extends into neighboring structures.

Distress varies in location, severity, and duration, but the most common area is deep in the chest, behind the breastbone. It may radiate from there to the upper abdomen, back, shoulders, or heart. It can be likened to the aching caused by a blow to the solar plexus; not agonizing but severe enough to disturb sleep.

A young physician suffered from pain in the left shoulder and upper arm whenever he walked uphill. He was certain he had angina pectoris until pressure over the xiphoid process reproduced soreness. A patient with gall bladder trouble reacted to xiphoid pressure with biliary symptoms. Cure followed removal of the gall bladder.

In another victim with discomfort indistinguishable from angina pectoris, pressure on the xiphoid brought not only pain but faintness, blanching, and sweating. Discomfort lasted for 10 hours after the test was made. The patient had coronary disease and pressure over the xiphoid resulted in cardiac distress.

Several remedies are available. Improvement follows the injection of procaine into the solar plexus or spraying the overlying skin with ethyl chloride. Removing the basic disorder, as in the patient with gall bladder disease, also helps. Reassurance is needed because these people are convinced that a serious condition exists.

Bronze Plaque Presented Walter Bowers At Dinner

55 Attend Moose Affair Honoring Retiring Mentor

BY JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Players, coaches and friends paid tribute to Walter L. "Bill" Bowers, Allegany High School mentor who retired last June from the coaching ranks after 29 years at the helm of Campobello teams, at an informal buffet dinner at the Loyal Order of Moose lodge last night.

Bowers, dean of basketball coaches in Allegany County until his retirement, was presented a bronze plaque commemorating his service as a coach and his inspiration to players and coaches alike.

Russell Minnicks, governor of the Moose lodge, made the presentation to Bowers after the slim, soft-spoken physical education instructor at AHS had been praised, lauded and generally congratulated by all those present at the simple affair last night.

55 Attend Affair

Approximately 55 former members of Bowers-coached teams, area coaches, high school principals, friends and sports celebrities were in attendance at the tribute to the retiring coach.

The plaque reads: "W. L. "Bill" Bowers, 29 years of meritorious basketball coaching at Allegany High School, 11 state, 19 county titles, respected and admired by all, an inspiration to Cumberland youth, his teams won 567 games, lost only 164, by the Loyal Order of Moose, Lodge No. 271."

Bowers, accepting the plaque from Minnicks, told his gathered admirers, "I would gladly trade some of my victories in sports for the gift of words to tell you how much I'm deeply honored at this occasion. I owe a debt of gratitude to the many boys who played under me."

Most of the gathering spoke briefly of their association with Bowers during the many years he coached at Allegany and paid high tribute to him as a gentleman and inspiration to all.

Praised By Webster

Among the tributes paid to Bowers were from Superintendent of Schols Ralph R. Webster who said, "It is a pleasure to have a small part in paying honor to Coach Bowers. We can easily measure games won and lost, but he has done as much as any person to put on a good show and you can't measure the inspiration he gave to his boys. His greatest good is measured in the hearts and minds of those who called him 'coach.'"

Raymond R. McCullough, principal at Allegany High School, said "one of the reasons it is hard to measure the fruits of his labors is that the fruit can not be in evidence until all his students have passed on."

Dan Stanley, former grid official and now a member of the staff at West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company plant at Luke, "he fought the fight, kept the faith and no matter how he won or lost he played the game. This was Bill Bowers' creed."

Says Name Is Legend

Eugene "Red" Shaw, basketball coach at Allegany High who succeeds Bowers this year, "It seems I've known him since I was so high. His name is legend wherever his team played or basketball is talked about."

John Sommerville, Keyser, "He was always a gentleman."

Walter Crawford, Carver High mentor, "No one is a better booster of Mr. Bowers than I."

Some of those in attendance were Espy Barley, halfback on Bowers' first football team at Allegany; Don Lilya, Herman Cunningham, Jim McFarland, Lou Baker, Charles "Snap" Morris, Herman Koegel, and others who played under Bowers; area coaches Chester Payne of Ridgeley, Fred Clark of Keyser, John Shelton of Keyser; Wes Abrams of Romney; William Miers of Piedmont; Kenneth Babcock of Frostburg State Teachers; Eddie Finzel of Beall; Norm Geatz of LaSalle; Johnny Meyers of Valley; John Thomas of Mt. Savage; Leonard Ritchie of Bruce; Glen Hawkins of West Virginia School for Deaf; Eugene Hopkins of Allegany; Ray Hull of Beall; Roy Lester of Allegany; Jim Hosack of Frostburg State Teachers; "Bobby" Cavanaugh of Fort Hill; Hubert Radcliffe, principal at Oldtown High; Foy Curry, assistant principal at Allegany; John J. Long and William V. Keegan, city commissioners; William H. "Uncle Bill" Lewis, former general secretary of the YMCA, and Edwin L. "Pappy" Kuhn, former YMCA physical education instructor; Donald "Lefty" Lee and many others.

Eugene T. Gunning, assistant managing editor of the Cumberland Evening Times, was toastmaster for the occasion and Brother Thomas of LaSalle High School gave the benediction.

Letters of regret at being unable to attend were received from Clifton Van Roby, Homer Brooks of Frederick High School, and Carl Engh, former mentor at Westmont High School of Johnstown.

Boxing Guild Is Outlawed In N. Y.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP) — The Boxing Guild of New York was outlawed, in effect, by the New York State Athletic Commission today in a sweeping move that could mean the end of boxing in New York if the managers refuse to yield.

Julius Helfand, commission chairman, climaxed a nine-month inquiry in the sport by delivering a nine-page decision, blasting the Guild for its "vague and shadowy" activities and its "monopolistic practices."

Helfand, speaking for himself and absent Commissioner Bob Christenberry, said "the Boxing Guild of New York, affiliated with the International Boxing Guild, is a continuing menace to the integrity of boxing in this state."

He said membership in the Guild is "an act detrimental to the interests of boxing."

Holcomb Fires Northwestern's Football Staff

Saban, Four Aides Lose Coaching Jobs

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 12 (AP)—The new broom swept clean today at Northwestern as Stu Holcomb, athletic director less than three days, fired head football Coach Lou Saban and his entire staff.

The housecleaning was Holcomb's first move since being placed in complete charge of the Wildcats' athletic situation after being hired from Purdue, where he had served as football boss since 1947.

The 34-year-old Saban, line coaches Bud Svendsen and Nathan Johnson, backfield Coach Al Pesek and end Coach George Steinbrenner, were told that their one-year contracts would not be renewed when they expire March 1.

"I'll start at once on the task of selecting a new head coach and he will be free to name his own staff," said Holcomb, who succeeded Ted Payseur as athletic director. Payseur recently was switched to assistant business manager for promotion of athletics.

The general shakeup in the athletic department climaxed alumni and campus criticism of the last two football seasons during which Northwestern won only one Big Ten game, against Illinois in 1954. Bob Voigts resigned "under alumni pressure" nearly a year ago.

Saban, his assistant the former Indiana University star, moved up as head coach under a stopgap one-year pact. His Wildcats were without a single victory last season for the first time in the school's history. They tied Illinois, 7-7, in the finale.

Enos Slaughter To Wed Cumberland Girl Dec. 21

Helen Spiker To Be Bride Of K. C. Player

Enos Bradsher "Country" Slaughter, outfielder for the Kansas City Athletics, told newsmen in Denver, Colo., yesterday he's going to be married for the fifth time, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Slaughter said he would be wed to Helen Spiker, Cumberland, Md., airline stewardess at Cumberland December 21. He said it will be Miss Spiker's first marriage.

Slaughter talked to reporters while on a public relations visit in Denver for a Milwaukee brewery.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Reatus L. Spiker, Uhl Highway, and is the oldest of five children. Miss Spiker has been employed by TWA out of Kansas City for the past three years. Her father is publisher of the Cumberland Messenger. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Adam E. Grim, pastor, at Grace Methodist Church, 130 Virginia Avenue, Wednesday, December 21.

Slaughter, a native of Roxboro, N. C., was born April 27, 1916, and has played in the major leagues for 15 years. From 1938 through 1953 he was a regular outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals with the exception of 1943, 1944 and 1945 when he was in military service. On April 11, 1954 he was traded to the New York Yankees for Bill Virdon, Emil Tellinger and Mel Wright. Last May he was traded by the Yankees to Kansas City with Johnny Sain for Pitcher John "Sonny" Dixon and cash. In 1941 he suffered a broken collarbone and was out of action five weeks.

ENOS SLAUGHTER

One of the best known players in the majors, Slaughter figured in two World Series with the Cardinals and played in ten major league All-Star games with National League teams. He owned a lifetime batting average of .304 prior to the 1955 season.

Bronze Plaque Presented Walter Bowers At Dinner

55 Attend Moose Affair Honoring Retiring Mentor

BY JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Players, coaches and friends paid tribute to Walter L. "Bill" Bowers, Allegany High School mentor who retired last June from the coaching ranks after 29 years at the helm of Campobello teams, at an informal buffet dinner at the Loyal Order of Moose lodge last night.

Bowers, dean of basketball coaches in Allegany County until his retirement, was presented a bronze plaque commemorating his service as a coach and his inspiration to players and coaches alike.

Russell Minnicks, governor of the Moose lodge, made the presentation to Bowers after the slim, soft-spoken physical education instructor at AHS had been praised, lauded and generally congratulated by all those present at the simple affair last night.

55 Attend Affair

Approximately 55 former members of Bowers-coached teams, area coaches, high school principals, friends and sports celebrities were in attendance at the tribute to the retiring coach.

The plaque reads: "W. L. "Bill" Bowers, 29 years of meritorious basketball coaching at Allegany High School, 11 state, 19 county titles, respected and admired by all, an inspiration to Cumberland youth, his teams won 567 games, lost only 164, by the Loyal Order of Moose, Lodge No. 271."

Bowers, accepting the plaque from Minnicks, told his gathered admirers, "I would gladly trade some of my victories in sports for the gift of words to tell you how much I'm deeply honored at this occasion. I owe a debt of gratitude to the many boys who played under me."

Most of the gathering spoke briefly of their association with Bowers during the many years he coached at Allegany and paid high tribute to him as a gentleman and inspiration to all.

Praised By Webster

Among the tributes paid to Bowers were from Superintendent of Schols Ralph R. Webster who said, "It is a pleasure to have a small part in paying honor to Coach Bowers. We can easily measure games won and lost, but he has done as much as any person to put on a good show and you can't measure the inspiration he gave to his boys. His greatest good is measured in the hearts and minds of those who called him 'coach.' "

Raymond R. McCullough, principal at Allegany High School, said "one of the reasons it is hard to measure the fruits of his labors is that the fruit can not be in evidence until all his students have passed on."

Dan Stanley, former grid official and now a member of the staff at West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company plant at Luke, "he fought the fight, kept the faith and no matter how he won or lost he played the game. This was Bill Bowers' creed."

Says Name Is Legend

Eugene "Red" Shaw, basketball coach at Allegany High who succeeds Bowers this year, "It seems I've known him since I was so high. His name is legend wherever his team played or basketball is talked about."

John Sommerville, Keyser, "He was always a gentleman."

Walter Crawford, Carver High mentor, "No one is a better booster of Mr. Bowers than I."

Some of those in attendance were Espy Barley, halfback on Bowers' first football team at Allegany; Don Lilya, Herman Cunningham, Jim McFarland, Lou Baker, Charles "Snap" Morris, Herman Koegel, and others who played under Bowers; area coaches Chester Payne of Ridgeley, Fred Clark of Keyser, John Shelton of Keyser; Wes Abrams of Romney; William Miers of Piedmont; Kenneth Babcock of Frostburg State Teachers; Eddie Finzel of Beall; Norm Geatz of LaSalle; Johnny Meyers of Valley; John Thomas of Mt. Savage; Leonard Ritchie of Bruce; Glen Hawkins of West Virginia School for Deaf; Eugene Hopkins of Allegany; Ray Hull of Beall; Roy Lester of Allegany; Jim Hosack of Frostburg State Teachers; "Bobby" Cavanaugh of Fort Hill; Hubert Radcliffe, principal at Oldtown High; Foy Curry, assistant principal at Allegany; John J. Long and William V. Keegan, city commissioners; William H. "Uncle Bill" Lewis, former general secretary of the YMCA, and Edwin L. "Pappy" Kuhn, former YMCA physical education instructor; Donald "Lefty" Lee and many others.

Eugene T. Gunning, assistant managing editor of the Cumberland Evening Times, was toastmaster for the occasion and Brother Thomas of LaSalle High School gave the benediction.

Letters of regret at being unable to attend were received from Clifton Van Roby, Homer Brooks of Frederick High School, and Carl Engh, former mentor at Westmont High School of Johnstown.

BEST OF LUCK, GENE — Walter L. Bowers, right, retiring basketball mentor at Allegany High School, is shown shaking the hand of Gene Shaw, the Campers' new mentor, and wishing him the best of luck at the Moose Lodge buffet dinner held last night in honor of the man who coached at Campobello for 29 years. Bowers is holding the bronze plaque presented to him by Cumberland Lodge No. 271. Shaw was a pupil of Bowers and played on four W.M.I. League unbeaten teams.

Boxing Guild Is Outlawed In N. Y.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP) — The Boxing Guild of New York was outlawed, in effect, by the New York State Athletic Commission today in a sweeping move that could mean the end of boxing in New York if the managers refuse to yield.

Julius Helfand, commission chairman, climaxed a nine-month inquiry in the sport by delivering a nine-page decision, blasting the Guild for its "vague and shadowy" activities and its "monopolistic practices."

Helfand, speaking for himself and absent Commissioner Bob Christenberry, said "the Boxing Guild of New York, affiliated with the International Boxing Guild, is a continuing menace to the integrity of boxing in this state."

He said membership in the Guild is "an act detrimental to the interests of boxing."

Holcomb Fires Northwestern's Football Staff

Saban, Four Aides Lose Coaching Jobs

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 12 (AP)—The new broom swept clean today at Northwestern as Stu Holcomb, athletic director less than three days, fired head football Coach Lou Saban and his entire staff.

The housecleaning was Holcomb's first move since being placed in complete charge of the Wildcats' athletic situation after being hired from Purdue, where he had served as football boss since 1947.

The 34-year-old Saban, line coaches Bud Svendsen and Nathan Johnson, backfield Coach Al Pesek and end Coach George Steinbrenner, were told that their one-year contracts would not be renewed when they expire March 1.

"I'll start at once on the task of selecting a new head coach and he will be free to name his own staff," said Holcomb, who succeeded Ted Payseur as athletic director. Payseur recently was switched to assistant business manager for promotion of athletics.

The general shakeup in the athletic department climaxed alumni and campus criticism of the last two football seasons during which Northwestern won only one Big Ten game, against Illinois in 1954. Bob Voigts resigned "under alumni pressure" nearly a year ago.

Saban, his assistant the former Indiana University star, moved up as head coach under a stopgap one-year pact. His Wildcats were without a single victory last season for the first time in the school's history. They tied Illinois, 7-7, in the finale.

Rosi Beats Perez

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—Paolo Rosi, a baldish Italian who was thumbed down by the New York State Athletic Commission for a Madison Square Garden bout, gave Lulu Perez a solid beating tonight to win a unanimous decision in 10 rounds at St. Nicholas Arena.

Both judge Joe Agnello and Artie Schwartz voted 7-3 and Referee Mark Conn scored it 8-2, all for Rosi. The AP card also was 8-2.

Enos Slaughter To Wed Cumberland Girl Dec. 21

Helen Spiker To Be Bride Of K. C. Player

ENOS SLAUGHTER

Enos Bradsher "Country" Slaughter, outfielder for the Kansas City Athletics, told newsmen in Denver, Colo., yesterday he's going to be married for the fifth time, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Slaughter said he would be wed to Helen Spiker, Cumberland, Md., airline stewardess at Cumberland December 21. He said it will be Miss Spiker's first marriage.

Slaughter talked to reporters while on a public relations visit in Denver for a Milwaukee brewery.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Reatus L. Spiker, Uhl Highway, and is the oldest of five children. Miss Spiker has been employed by TWA out of Kansas City for the past three years. Her father is publisher of the Cumberland Messenger. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Adam E. Grim, pastor, at Grace Methodist Church, 130 Virginia Avenue, Wednesday, December 21.

Slaughter, a native of Roxboro, N. C., was born April 27, 1916, and has played in the major leagues for 15 years. From 1938 through 1953 he was a regular outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals with the exception of 1943, 1944 and 1945 when he was in military service. On April 11, 1954 he was traded to the New York Yankees for Bill Virdon, Emil Tellinger and Mel Wright. Last May he was traded by the Yankees to Kansas City with Johnny Sain for Pitcher John "Sonny" Dixon and cash. In 1941 he suffered a broken collarbone and was out of action five weeks.

One of the best known players in the majors, Slaughter figured in two World Series with the Cardinals and played in ten major league All-Star games with National League teams. He owned a lifetime batting average of .304 prior to the 1955 season.

Trippi Retires As Pro Gridder

Becomes Assistant Coach Of Cardinals

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (AP)—Charlie Trippi, former All-America back at Georgia, today announced his retirement as a football player to become an assistant coach with the Chicago Cardinals.

Trippi winds up nine playing years with the Cardinals with these marks: 3,510 yards in 687 carries for 5.1 average; 37 touchdowns; 130 pass receptions for 1,312 yards; 250 pass completions out of 431 attempts for 2,528 yards and 16 touchdowns.

His average from scrimmage and scoring established club records.

Trippi, who helped guide the Cards to the 1947 National Football League championship in his first season and to the 1948 divisional crown, will be a fulltime assistant coach. He also will serve as a talent scout.

Injured Grid Star Is Presented $6,000

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (AP) — Allen Felch, former University of Kentucky fullback who was paralyzed by a swimming accident while in the Army, received a check for $6,000 yesterday from football fans.

The presentation was made in a ward of Hines Veterans Administration Hospital by Bob Hardy, Kentucky's co-captain, and Athletic Director Bernie Shively, while Felch's wife, Glenna, looked on.

Most of the money was raised from fans at the Kentucky-Tennessee game last month; some came in by mail, and the K Club, a varsity lettermen's group, chipped in $500.

Jack Mollenkopf Named Purdue Football Coach

Former Line Mentor Given 3-Year Pact

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Dec. 12 (AP)—Kenneth (Jack) Mollenkopf, whose powerful lines made Purdue the best defensive team in the Big Ten this fall, was promoted to head football coach today.

The 50-year-old former star end of Bowling Green University of Ohio was reported to be the choice of Stuart K. (Stu) Holcomb, who is leaving the Purdue coaching job after nine seasons to become athletic director at Northwestern University.

President Frederick L. Hovde of Purdue, himself a former Minnesota quarterback, gave candidates little time to line up for the Boilermaker post. He announced Mollenkopf's selection only three days after Northwestern picked Holcomb to reorganize its athletic department.

Mollenkopf was given a three-year contract at an undisclosed salary. Holcomb's last Purdue contract was for 10 years.

Holcomb, who had been an Army assistant coach, picked Mollenkopf as one of his first assistants when he came to Purdue in 1947. Holcomb, himself a Buckeye from Ohio State, was impressed by Mollenkopf's record as a high school coach.

The new Purdue coach, a native of Convoy, Ohio, claimed three state championships in an 11-year tenure at Waite High School of Toledo, Ohio.

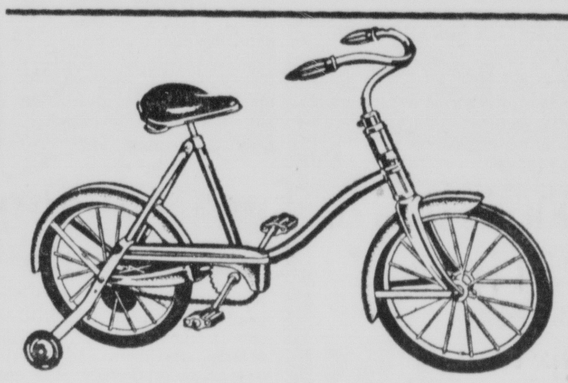

Jersey Joe Walcott's son is now fighting professionally.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (AP)—Charlie Trippi, former All-America back at Georgia, today announced his retirement as a football player to become an assistant coach with the Chicago Cardinals.

Trippi winds up nine playing years with the Cardinals with these marks: 3,510 yards in 687 carries for 5.1 average; 37 touchdowns; 130 pass receptions for 1,312 yards; 250 pass completions out of 431 attempts for 2,528 yards and 16 touchdowns.

Injured Grid Star Is Presented $6,000

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 (AP) — Allen Felch, former University of Kentucky fullback who was paralyzed by a swimming accident while in the Army, received a check for $6,000 yesterday from football fans.

The presentation was made in a ward of Hines Veterans Administration Hospital by Bob Hardy, Kentucky's co-captain, and Athletic Director Bernie Shively, while Felch's wife, Glenna, looked on.

Most of the money was raised from fans at the Kentucky-Tennessee game last month; some came in by mail, and the K Club, a varsity lettermen's group, chipped in $500.

Jack Mollenkopf Named Purdue Football Coach

Former Line Mentor Given 3-Year Pact

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Dec. 12 (AP)—Kenneth (Jack) Mollenkopf, whose powerful lines made Purdue the best defensive team in the Big Ten this fall, was promoted to head football coach today.

The 50-year-old former star end of Bowling Green University of Ohio was reported to be the choice of Stuart K. (Stu) Holcomb, who is leaving the Purdue coaching job after nine seasons to become athletic director at Northwestern University.

President Frederick L. Hovde of Purdue, himself a former Minnesota quarterback, gave candidates little time to line up for the Boilermaker post. He announced Mollenkopf's selection only three days after Northwestern picked Holcomb to reorganize its athletic department.

Mollenkopf was given a three-year contract at an undisclosed salary. Holcomb's last Purdue contract was for 10 years.

Holcomb, who had been an Army assistant coach, picked Mollenkopf as one of his first assistants when he came to Purdue in 1947. Holcomb, himself a Buckeye from Ohio State, was impressed by Mollenkopf's record as a high school coach.

The new Purdue coach, a native of Convoy, Ohio, claimed three state championships in an 11-year tenure at Waite High School of Toledo, Ohio.

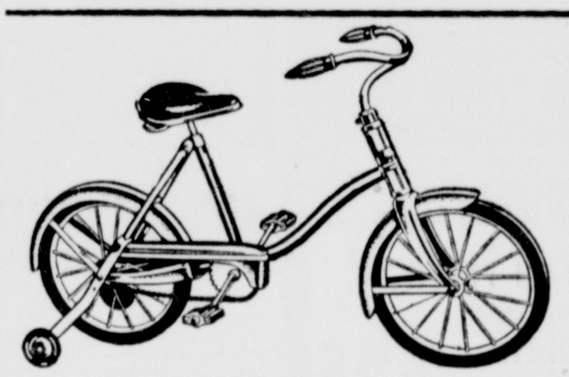

Jersey Joe Walcott's son is now fighting professionally.

Market Selling Persists To Force Prices Down

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—Selling persisted in the stock market today and mounted in intensity just before the final bell to push prices down all around.

There was no acute pressure at any time, but many leading stocks were at their lows at the close. The fall carried prices off 1 to 4 points. At the same time there were gains of 1 to 2 points and more. Losses outnumbered gains more than two-to-one.

All divisions of the market were engulfed by the selling, but resistance was found in the coppers, railroads, and aircrafts.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined $1.40 at $179.90. That is not too far under the record high of $181.50 set Sept. 23 and again a week ago today.

The industrial component of the average lost $2.40, rails were off 70 cents, and utilities were off 30 cents.

Out of the 1,218 individual issues traded, 317 advanced and 666 declined with 28 new highs and 17 new lows for the year.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

There Will Be Around Two Billion Cards Sent In America By December 25th

"Do I put my husband's name or mine first . . . or should I sign our Christmas cards Mr. and Mrs.?" anxiously writes a Detroit reader.

On Christmas cards signatures such as "Peg" or "Bill" are used. Since a wife usually signs and addresses the cards, her name comes after his so: "Lincoln and Alice Kelser," rather than "Alice and Lincoln." "Mrs." or "Mr." is wrong.

"Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Kelser and Family" is another signature form that should not be used. It is much better to say, " . . . and love from us all, Lincoln and Alice." Or, if you want to be more formal say, " . . . from all of us," or " . . . and best wishes from us all."

It is not at all necessary, but not, of course, incorrect to write a message on your Christmas card. Many find this the only time to tell what has happened during the past year. They, are the same people who usually enjoy hearing all the latest happenings from their friends . . . with a few family pictures thrown in.

When Christmas cards are specially made up and names engraved . . . then the order given above is reversed and the holiday message ends, "Alice and Lincoln Kelser." And, many like to make it less formal to a beloved relative or intimate friend by crossing out the last name and writing above the names in ink," "Love" or "Affectionately."

The most formal cards are engraved by starting the message with "Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Kelser wish you a Merry Christmas . . ." Never use the abbreviation "Xmas."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 12—(INS)—Jane Wyman has been so busy with her TV show that I didn't think she'd even had time to discuss a new motion picture. Yet, here it is. Jack Warner has bought "Two Wives," a Reader's Digest story, for Jane and he plans to put it into production as quickly as possible. Margaret Fitts has been given the story to script and Biernie Lay Jr., is the producer.

I don't remember reading "Two Wives," but I'm told it's a love story, and the type of characterization that Janie does so well. She will probably make it when her show takes a late spring recess.

In the far flung corners of the earth "The Conqueror" will be premiered. The first is in Thailand with King Phum Iphon as the sponsor. The date is January 22nd and the place is Bangkok.

This will be followed by thirty world-wide premieres. The one in England undoubtedly will be sponsored by the royal family with the proceeds going to a British charity. In each country the same procedure will be followed.

This is the idea of Howard Hughes, who made this picture before he decided to sell RKO to multi-millionaire Tom O'Neil. It isn't likely that the stars, Susan Hayward and John Wayne, will be a part of the pageantry—distance is too great.

Last but not least, Charles Boyer joins the distinguished company of Noel Coward, Marlene Dietrich, John Geilgud, Ronald Colman, Frank Sinatra, Red Skelton, Fernandel, etc. in "Around The World In 80 Days."

In Charles' brief appearance in the Jules Verne classic he'll play a Parisian travel expert who steers Phileas Fogg (David Niven) and his valet (Cantinflas) to the balloon which takes them across France.

Charles arrived in New York over the weekend and planed directly to Hollywood for his one day's work in "Around The World."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The stars in Arleen Whelan's eyes are occasioned by Bob Rains, U-I's radio and TV genius.

Director Howard Hawks' daughter, Barbara, becomes the bride of UCLA student Don McCampbell, in late January.

Bing Crosby has endowed a hospital in New Orleans in his late wife's name—Dixie Lee Crosby.

Rita Hayworth would have had to be back today if her case hadn't been held off until the 27th at her request. Hear her attorneys are very uneasy about her long absence.

Gary Cooper won't miss his daughter Maria's debut party in New York December 19th. He's hurrying to get through with "Friendly Persuasion" so he can be there.

Congratulations to Walter Pidgeon and his bride of 24 years. Yesterday was their wedding aniversary.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Market Selling Persists To Force Prices Down

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP)—Selling persisted in the stock market today and mounted in intensity just before the final bell to push prices down all around.

There was no acute pressure at any time, but many leading stocks were at their lows at the close. The fall carried prices off 1 to 4 points. At the same time there were gains of 1 to 2 points and more. Losses outnumbered gains more than two-to-one.

All divisions of the market were engulfed by the selling, but resistance was found in the coppers, railroads, and aircrafts.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined $1.40 at $179.90. That is not too far under the record high of $181.50 set Sept. 23 and again a week ago today.

The industrial component of the average lost $2.40, rails were off 70 cents, and utilities were off 30 cents.

Out of the 1,218 individual issues traded, 317 advanced and 666 declined with 28 new highs and 17 new lows for the year.

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 12—(INS)—Jane Wyman has been so busy with her TV show that I didn't think she'd even had time to discuss a new motion picture. Yet, here it is. Jack Warner has bought "Two Wives," a Reader's Digest story, for Jane and he plans to put it into production as quickly as possible. Margaret Fitts has been given the story to script and Biernie Lay Jr., is the producer.

I don't remember reading "Two Wives," but I'm told it's a love story, and the type of characterization that Janie does so well. She will probably make it when her show takes a late spring recess.

In the far flung corners of the earth "The Conqueror" will be premiered. The first is in Thailand with King Phum Iphon as the sponsor. The date is January 22nd and the place is Bangkok.

This will be followed by thirty world-wide premieres. The one in England undoubtedly will be sponsored by the royal family with the proceeds going to a British charity. In each country the same procedure will be followed.

This is the idea of Howard Hughes, who made this picture before he decided to sell RKO to multi-millionaire Tom O'Neil. It isn't likely that the stars, Susan Hayward and John Wayne, will be a part of the pageantry—distance is too great.

Last but not least, Charles Boyer joins the distinguished company of Noel Coward, Marlene Dietrich, John Geilgud, Ronald Colman, Frank Sinatra, Red Skelton, Fernandel, etc. in "Around The World In 80 Days."

In Charles' brief appearance in the Jules Verne classic he'll play a Parisian travel expert who steers Phileas Fogg (David Niven) and his valet (Cantinflas) to the balloon which takes them across France.

Charles arrived in New York over the weekend and planed directly to Hollywood for his one day's work in "Around The World."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The stars in Arleen Whelan's eyes are occasioned by Bob Rains, U-I's radio and TV genius.

Director Howard Hawks' daughter, Barbara, becomes the bride of UCLA student Don McCampbell, in late January.

Bing Crosby has endowed a hospital in New Orleans in his late wife's name—Dixie Lee Crosby.

Rita Hayworth would have had to be back today if her case hadn't been held off until the 27th at her request. Hear her attorneys are very uneasy about her long absence.

Gary Cooper won't miss his daughter Maria's debut party in New York December 19th. He's hurrying to get through with "Friendly Persuasion" so he can be there.

Congratulations to Walter Pidgeon and his bride of 24 years. Yesterday was their wedding aniversary.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

INEXPERT DEFENSE

EAST'S defense in the deal below was considerably short of expert.

East dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Both sides 60 on score.

	♠ A K 8 5 ♥ 9 8 3 ♦ A 6 5 ♣ J 10 8
♠ J 4 ♥ K 10 7 6 ♦ K Q 10 ♣ A Q 5 2	N W E S	♠ Q 6 2 ♥ 4 2 ♦ J 3 2 ♣ K 7 6 4 3
	♠ 10 9 7 3 ♥ A Q J 5 ♦ 9 8 7 4 ♣ 9

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Dble.
Pass	1 ♠	Dble.	Pass
2 ♣	2 ♦	3 ♣	3 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

The fact that both sides were 60 on score naturally influenced the bidding, although it was only South and North who were particularly venturesome.

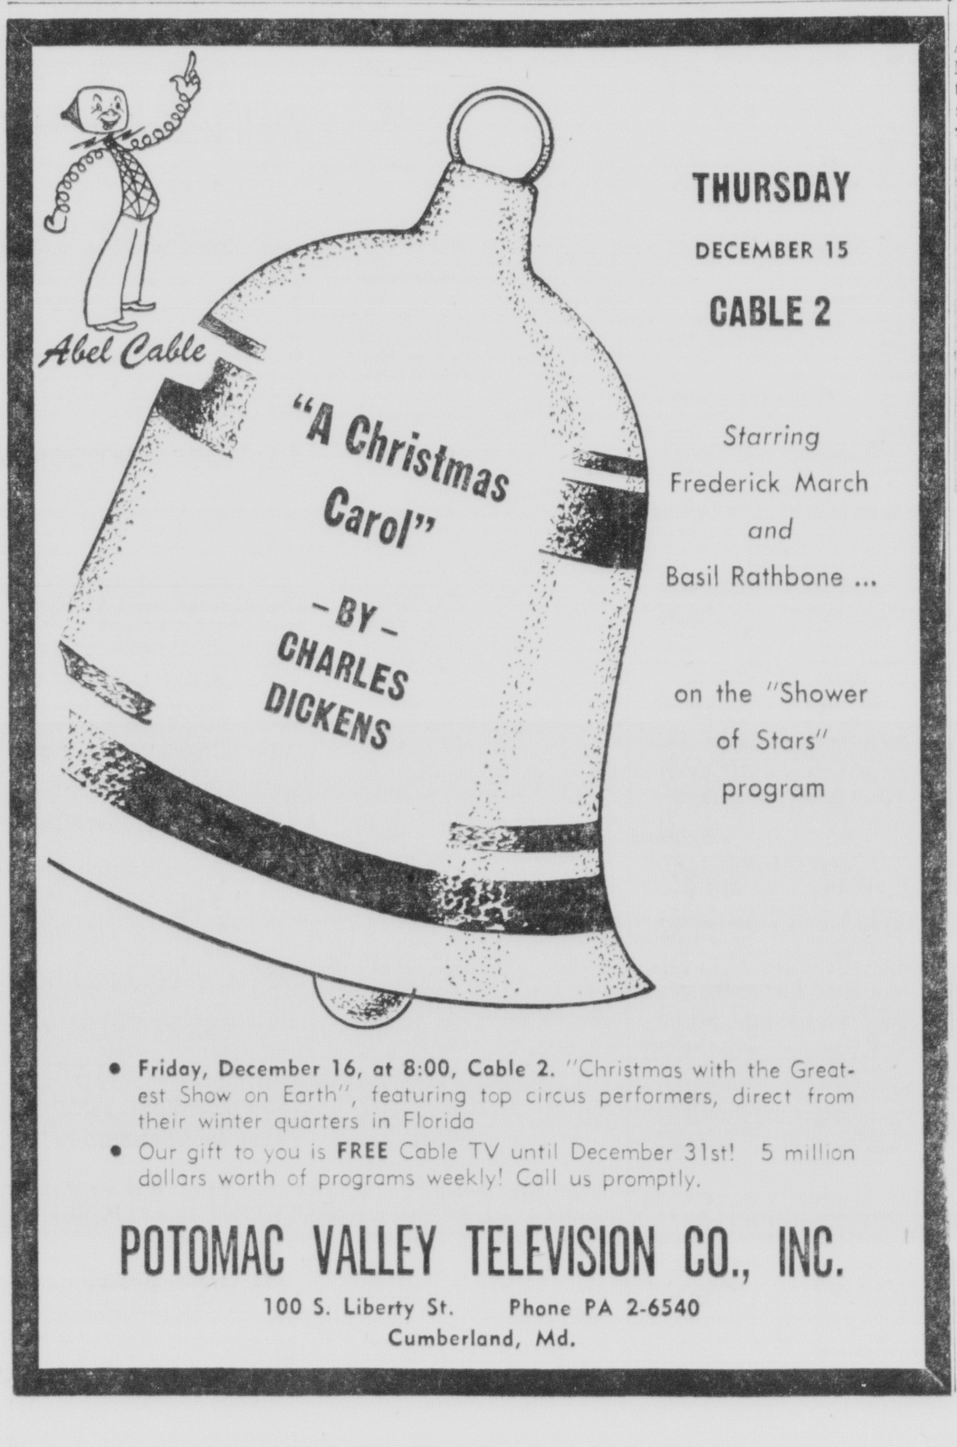

After long consideration of the opposing bidding, West decided to lead the ace of clubs, but when the dummy appeared he shifted to the king of diamonds. The ace was put up and declarer ruffed a club, then led to the trump king and ruffed dummy's last club. Next, he cashed the ace of trumps.

East had played the deuce and six of trumps on the two leads of that suit, and now, when declarer led a heart to his jack, West took the trick but was in a quandary over what to return. He did not know that East had the diamond jack or that he still had the spade queen, and thus the safest return seemed to be a heart. It did not turn out that way, however. Dummy's eight won, and when the heart nine was led, East discarded a club. This made it easy for declarer to win the present heart trick and then to discard a diamond from dummy on the next heart while East was using his high trump.

Granting that East did not want to waste his good queen of spades, it was nevertheless vital for him to ruff the third heart so as to make the quick return of a diamond. Moreover, if East had properly followed suit in trumps with the six and deuce, instead of the other way around, he would have shown his partner a holding of three trumps (this is known as the trump echo) and West then could have led his last club in the knowledge that declarer had no more trumps.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

INEXPERT DEFENSE

EAST S defense in the deal below was considerably short of expert.

East dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Both sides 60 on score.

	♠ A K 8 5 ♥ 9 8 3 ♦ A 6 5 ♣ J 10 8
♠ J 4 ♥ K 10 7 6 ♦ K Q 10 ♣ A Q 5 2	N W E S	♠ Q 6 2 ♥ 4 2 ♦ J 3 2 ♣ K 7 6 4 3
	♠ 10 9 7 3 ♥ A Q J 5 ♦ 9 8 7 4 ♣ 9

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Dble.
Pass	1 ♠	Dble.	Pass
2 ♣	2 ♦	3 ♣	3 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

The fact that both sides were 60 on score naturally influenced the bidding, although it was only South and North who were particularly venturesome.

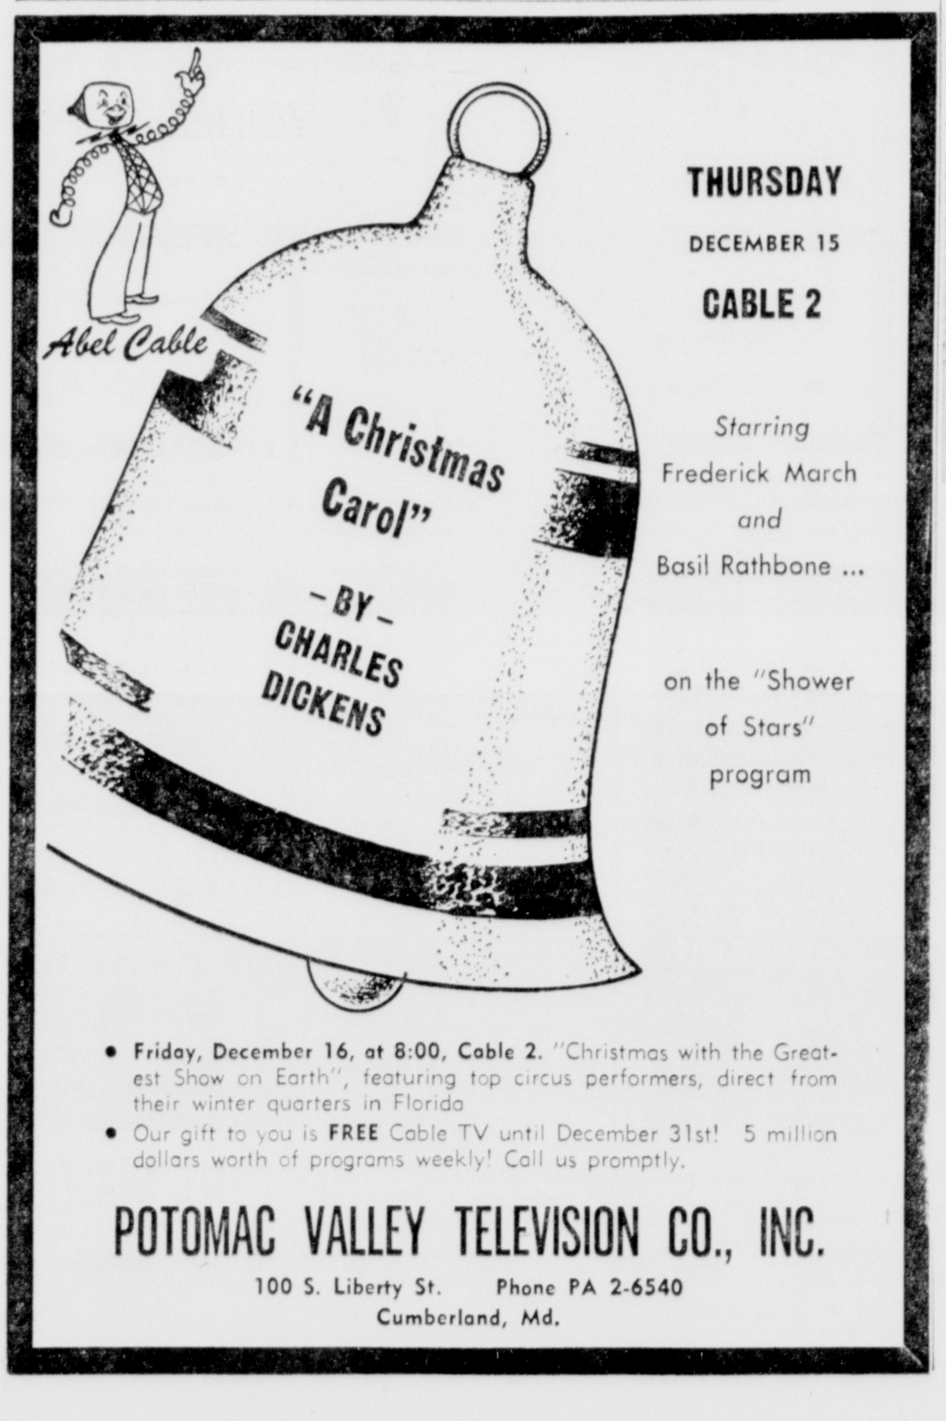

After long consideration of the opposing bidding, West decided to lead the ace of clubs, but when the dummy appeared he shifted to the king of diamonds. The ace was put up and declarer ruffed a club, then led to the trump king and ruffed dummy's last club. Next, he cashed the ace of trumps.

East had played the deuce and six of trumps on the two leads of that suit, and now, when declarer led a heart to his jack, West took the trick but was in a quandary over what to return. He did not know that East had the diamond jack or that he still had the spade queen, and thus the safest return seemed to be a heart. It did not turn out that way, however. Dummy's eight won, and when the heart nine was led, East discarded a club. This made it easy for declarer to win the present heart trick and then to discard a diamond from dummy on the next heart while East was using his high trump.

Granting that East did not want to waste his good queen of spades, it was nevertheless vital for him to ruff the third heart so as to make the quick return of a diamond. Moreover, if East had properly followed suit in trumps with the six and deuce, instead of the other way around, he would have shown his partner a holding of three trumps (this is known as the trump echo) and West then could have led his last club in the knowledge that declarer had no more trumps.

Teenagers Hurt When Two Cars Collide There

At least seven young people were admitted to local hospitals last night as a result of a two-car collision in Ellerslie.

Maryland State Police said the cars collided on Route 35 in Ellerslie, in front of Cook's Service Station, about 9:15 p.m.

Six of the victims were taken to Sacred Heart Hospital and two more to Memorial Hospital. One was released after treatment.

They were taken to the hospitals in ambulances provided by the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Department.

Both of the accident victims taken to Memorial Hospital were reported in "critical" condition shortly before last midnight. They were listed as JoAnn Moore, 16, 126 Humbird Street, and Robert A. Logsdon, Hyndman, Pa.

Memorial Hospital attaches said Logsdon suffered a possible fractured skull, severe lacerations of the face and neck. Miss Moore had a fractured left leg, lacerations of the left leg, serious lacerations of the right leg and a deep laceration of the side.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital and listed in fair condition were Carl Smith, 18, Fairhope, Pa., with lacerations of the face, head and body; Florence Hedrick, 17, of Elder Street, lacerations of face, head and possible fractured leg; Charles Richard Walters, 18, of Mt. Savage, lacerations of the face, head and legs; Albert Dale Spatero, 17, of Morantown, possible fractured leg, and deep lacerations of head and face, and Charles E. Lowery, 17, of Hyndman, lacerations of the head and legs.

Dorothy Miller, 16, of 239 Humbird Street, was treated for brush burns and was not admitted to Sacred Heart.

State Troopers Joseph V. Stakem and Robert D. Wolford, who investigated the crash, said Walters and Spatero were occupants of one of the automobiles which was driven by Walters and was headed south on Route 35.

The other car in which six of the victims were riding was headed north on the highway into Ellerslie and was driven by Lowery.

Trooper Stakem said charges will be withheld pending the outcome of the injuries of the victims and completion of the investigation.

School Polio Program Is Completed

More Shots Slated Here After New Year

The Allegany County Health Department yesterday completed giving second shots of polio vaccine in the school program which began this spring, and announced plans for continuation of inoculations after the first of the year.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, said second shots were administered to 3,078 youngsters, or 86 per cent of the 3,615 children who enrolled in the program this spring.

He said all members of the department are pleased with the participation, which exceeds the state average.

The last of the shots were given yesterday to 65 children at Virginia Avenue School and to 73 second and third graders at Eckhart School.

Dr. Frantz said no adverse reports have been received from the polio vaccination program in Allegany County and that the inoculations have been successful.

The Health Department, he added, will offer shots to those in the one through 10 age group after the first of the year.

These shots, using vaccine provided by a federal grant, will be available in well baby clinics, he added.

No word has been received, he said, on the number of shots which will be available. They will be offered to those who request them, he explained, and will require consent slips.

City Receives Easement Lines For Highway

Go Ahead Slated On Two Projects

The State Roads Commission yesterday supplied the city with easement lines for the Industrial Highway and Mayor Roy W. Eves said the data will enable the city to complete its plans on two major projects.

The drawings, he explains, will enable the city to definitely locate a section of the North Branch water line and the force main and Evitts Creek pumping station of the city's sewage treatment plant.

To Avoid Conflicts

The drawings include the part of the dual highway located in the vicinity of Evitts Creek and the Pen-Mar Brick and Supply Company.

They were turned over to C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, who will study the plans in preparations for a final decision on the city projects.

Mayor Eves said the drawings will enable the city to locate the water line so it will not lie beneath the slopes and fills when the road is built.

G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer, said State Roads Commission crews were here last Tuesday for a preliminary inspection to check grades and drainage of the road between Vancouver Street in South Cumberland and the Jane Frazier house on Route 51.

SRC To Expedite

The job was expedited, he reported, to make sure that no conflict developed in the area where the city projects will be located.

The Industrial Highway segment of the huge crosstown expressway traffic plan was originally scheduled for construction during the second phase of the SRC's 12-year program.

Chaires said the work has been moved up to the first four years and will be done then if at all possible.

Lane Insists He Is Not Candidate

Reports Statement 'Means What It Says'

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12 (AP)—Former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr., declared today his statement that he will not run for the Democratic senate nomination "means just what it says."

There had been reports that Lane was being subjected to new pressures to enter the 1956 Maryland race in which George P. Mahoney is an early starter.

Lane said "a couple of people" had called him over the weekend about the possibility of running.

"But you could hardly call them political leaders," he said. "They were friends of mine of long standing."

Lane said he told the callers the same thing he had said on the subject many times earlier.

"I told them I wasn't a candidate."

Asked if this meant he would not run under any circumstances, he replied:

"It means just what it says."

Mahoney opposed Lane's bid for renomination in 1950. He received more popular votes than the governor, but Lane won on the basis of convention votes, which are similar to electoral college votes in presidential elections. Lane then lost to Republican Theodore R. McKeldin.

Mahoney later won the U. S. Senate nomination, defeating veteran Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer, and lost the general election to Republican J. Glenn Beall.

Last year he ran against H.C. Byrd in the primary for governor and lost, despite a bitter series of recount contests which he carried to the Court of Appeals.

One of the recounts was in Queen Annes County from where an endorsement came again today for Mahoney.

E. Trippe Callahan, president of the United Democratic Club, announced it would be for Mahoney again. The club was formed last year by so-called younger Democrats who put up an entire slate against the older Queen Annes party leadership typified by Joseph George.

Callahan was elected judge of the Orphans Court in one of two offices won by new group.

Sacred Heart To Receive $66,500 Aid

Ford Foundation Will Benefit 43 In State

Sacred Heart Hospital here is one of 43 Maryland hospitals eligible for grants totaling more than two-million dollars from the Ford Foundation, according to an Associated Press dispatch from New York.

The Ford Foundation yesterday gave away half a billion dollars to colleges and hospitals which amounts to $3 for every man, woman and child in the United States. It is the largest single appropriation in the history of philanthropy.

The local hospital is eligible for a $66,500 grant, according to the dispatch. Officials of the hospital said the first word they had concerning the grant was a telegram received yesterday. The purposes for which it must used were not known here.

No other hospital in the two western-most counties of Maryland was included in the list of eligibles. Nearest here was the Washington County Hospital in Hagerstown, eligible for $126,800.

The foundation said that computation of grants is based on reports from each hospital to the American Hospital Association. Final determination of eligible hospitals and the exact amount of each grant will be made by the foundation.

Concerning the hospital grants, the foundation said the "pressing need is for funds to expand or modernize present facilities and extend services to keep pace with the rapid development of medical science."

These grants are to be used at the discretion of the governing authorities of each hospital for any program of improvement of extension the hospital currently is performing.

Weimer Will Head ASC As O'Neal Ends Long Term

The new chairman, James H. Weimer, Mt. Savage, was elected at the County ASC convention yesterday morning. He has been vice-chairman for some years. O'Neal had been chairman since 1936.

Named vice chairman of the committee for the coming year was Joseph W. Silber, of Oldtown, who has been the regular member. Bradye H. Dolly, of Flintstone, was named the regular member.

The two alternates are Charles S. Harvey, Frostburg and Harry H. Delbrook, Mt. Savage. In the event something happens to a member of the committee, an alternate takes his place.

The committee members reappointed Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover as secretary-treasurer. She also serves as manager of the ASC office here.

The first regular meeting of the newly-elected committee will be held at 1:30 p. m. January 5 at the ASC office. The functions of the committee are the administering of the agricultural conservation program and wheat marketing program including the various practices.

Action Deferred On Ambulance Service Here

Undertakers Continue Pending Full Plan

Cumberland funeral directors will continue ambulance service here temporarily.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday an agreement has been reached whereby undertakers will continue to operate ambulances until the Volunteer Auxiliary Police Ambulance Corps and/or others can provide adequate service.

The Mayor reported the agreement to the Mayor and Council at its pre-meeting session yesterday after talking with both funeral directors and the Auxiliary Police Corps during the week.

Eves said some question had been raised over the funeral directors' advertisement which appeared in the December 11 Sunday Times concerning discontinuance of service effective February 1.

He said the directors had attempted to withdraw the ad but had been too late since the newspaper's deadline for advertising had passed.

Eves undertook to get the facts of the proposed ambulance program because it had such a wide effect on the welfare and safety of the community. He was particularly interested in the effect in event of a disaster, even a minor one.

The Auxiliary Police Ambulance Corps plan would call for an annual subscription to pay for service. The cost would be $4 a family or $2 an individual. Those not subscribing to the plan would pay $10 for a day call and $15 for a night call.

Workers Are Thanked

The letters were forwarded to association headquarters in New York, which will compile contributions and credit to the proper soliciting group.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, who headed the Cumberland Fire Department's part in the drive, expressed appreciation for the work of the members of the department, local Boy Scouts and members of the volunteer fire companies of the two counties for their time and effort in making the campaign a success.

A neighbor who resides in an apartment near the clubhouse told police she saw a man lurking near the building about the time the theft occurred and gave a meager description but no other leads have been turned up, they added.

Fred J. Hillebrecht, owner and operator of the club, said last night he was considering offering a reward for information leading to the quick apprehension of the person or persons involved and the recovery of the money.

Couple Brought To Court Here

A Bowling Green mother and father were given a suspended sentence in the Maryland House of Correction and paroled for a year by Juvenile Court Magistrate Morris Baron yesterday on charges of contributing to the delinquency of their nine children.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said his office received a call that the parents were neglecting their children and living in squalor and sent two deputies from the sheriff's office to investigate.

Authorities found the children, ranging in ages from less than a year to 15 years, living in filth and dirt, with plumbing in the house broken and conditions "the worst we've ever seen."

Both the parents were working, Fletcher said, with the husband having a good job and able to support the family.

Magistrate Baron suspended the sentence and paroled the couple on the condition they clean up their home, take care of the children and that the woman quit her job to be responsible for the care of the children.

Holiday Mail Rush Started

Additional postal clerks were on duty at the Post Office here yesterday, as the first impact of the heavy holiday mail was felt. The post office was crowded most of the day, and postal officials expect a still heavier volume all this week.

The extra hours at the Post Office Sunday and Saturday enabled many people to mail Christmas packages and cards over the weekend, thus assuring delivery before Christmas.

Postal officials said the number of cancellations has been gaining steadily, reaching 30,000 Saturday, which is heavier than the amount of mail dispatched the same day last year.

Most of Sunday's work involved parcels and sale of stamps to people who will mail cards this week. The Saturday and Sunday afternoon hours, adopted to help expedite the early movement of mail will probably be repeated next weekend, postal officials noted.

In addition to a steady and marked increase in the amount of mail being dispatched here, postal officials said incoming mail has increased greatly in quantity.

Cattle Owners Urged To Get Stock Tested

Brucellosis Check Is Required Now

Cattle owners of Allegany County are reminded to have their animals tested for brucellosis as soon as possible.

Joseph M. Steger, county agent, yesterday said that farmers who have not had tests made are asked to contact Dr. C. N. Foose, veterinarian in order that he may get authorization to test the animals.

Brucellosis, a specific infectious disease of animals, is the cause of undulant fever in human beings which results from the milk of the cow or eating meat that is improperly prepared.

Steger pointed out that a program throughout the state was in effect to have all cattle tested as soon as possible. About the first of November funds appropriated by the State Brucellosis Committee were used up.

However additional funds have been appropriated to carry on the test work until about December 31. Steger said he has received a number of telephone calls from county farmers asking if their cattle could be given tests for brucellosis.

Approximately 80 per cent of the animals throughout the county have been checked and it is the plan of the committee to have all cattle tested.

In a breakdown, Steger pointed out that the annual loss to the livestock industry due to brucellosis is some $100,000,000 including loss of milk estimated at 22 per cent: loss of calves, loss of value of infected cows, and loss caused in other stock.

Lane Insists He Is Not Candidate

Reports Statement 'Means What It Says'

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12 (AP)—Former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr., declared today his statement that he will not run for the Democratic senate nomination "means just what it says."

There had been reports that Lane was being subjected to new pressures to enter the 1956 Maryland race in which George P. Mahoney is an early starter.

Lane said "a couple of people" had called him over the weekend about the possibility of running.

"But you could hardly call them political leaders," he said. "They were friends of mine of long standing."

Lane said he told the callers the same thing he had said on the subject many times earlier.

"I told them I wasn't a candidate."

Asked if this meant he would not run under any circumstances, he replied:

"It means just what it says."

Mahoney opposed Lane's bid for renomination in 1950. He received more popular votes than the governor, but Lane won on the basis of convention votes, which are similar to electoral college votes in presidential elections. Lane then lost to Republican Theodore R. McKeldin.

Mahoney later won the U. S. Senate nomination, defeating veteran Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer, and lost the general election to Republican J. Glenn Beall.

Last year he ran against H.C. Byrd in the primary for governor and lost, despite a bitter series of recount contests which he carried to the Court of Appeals.

One of the recounts was in Queen Annes County from where an endorsement came again today for Mahoney.

E. Trippe Callahan, president of the United Democratic Club, announced it would be for Mahoney again. The club was formed last year by so-called younger Democrats who put up an entire slate against the older Queen Annes party leadership typified by Joseph George.

Callahan was elected judge of the Orphans Court in one of two offices won by new group.

Club Burglary Probe Continues

City police are continuing their investigation into the theft of nearly $500 in cash and whisky, stolen from the Maccabees Club on Bedford Street early Sunday morning.

Three possible suspects were questioned at length by detectives but were released yesterday, authorities said.

A neighbor who resides in an apartment near the clubhouse told police she saw a man lurking near the building about the time the theft occurred and gave a meager description but no other leads have been turned up, they added.

Fred J. Hillebrecht, owner and operator of the club, said last night he was considering offering a reward for information leading to the quick apprehension of the person or persons involved and the recovery of the money.

Sacred Heart To Receive $66,500 Aid

Ford Foundation Will Benefit 43 In State

Sacred Heart Hospital here is one of 43 Maryland hospitals eligible for grants totaling more than two-million dollars from the Ford Foundation, according to an Associated Press dispatch from New York.

The Ford Foundation yesterday gave away half a billion dollars to colleges and hospitals which amounts to $3 for every man, woman and child in the United States. It is the largest single appropriation in the history of philanthropy.

The local hospital is eligible for a $66,500 grant, according to the dispatch. Officials of the hospital said the first word they had concerning the grant was a telegram received yesterday. The purposes for which it must used were not known here.

No other hospital in the two western-most counties of Maryland was included in the list of eligibles. Nearest here was the Washington County Hospital in Hagerstown, eligible for $126,800.

The foundation said that computation of grants is based on reports from each hospital to the American Hospital Association. Final determination of eligible hospitals and the exact amount of each grant will be made by the foundation.

Concerning the hospital grants, the foundation said the "pressing need is for funds to expand or modernize present facilities and extend services to keep pace with the rapid development of medical science."

These grants are to be used at the discretion of the governing authorities of each hospital for any program of improvement of extension the hospital currently is performing.

Weimer Will Head ASC As O'Neal Ends Long Term

After almost 20 years as chairman of the Allegany County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee and its predecessor, the Production and Marketing Administration, Albert O'Neal has declined to run for reelection because of ill health.

Action Deferred On Ambulance Service Here

Undertakers Continue Pending Full Plan

Cumberland funeral directors will continue ambulance service here temporarily.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday an agreement has been reached whereby undertakers will continue to operate ambulances until the Volunteer Auxiliary Police Ambulance Corps and/or others can provide adequate service.

The Mayor reported the agreement to the Mayor and Council at its pre-meeting session yesterday after talking with both funeral directors and the Auxiliary Police Corps during the week.

Eves said some question had been raised over the funeral directors' advertisement which appeared in the December 11 Sunday Times concerning discontinuance of service effective February 1.

He said the directors had attempted to withdraw the ad but had been too late since the newspaper's deadline for advertising had passed.

Eves undertook to get the facts of the proposed ambulance program because it had such a wide effect on the welfare and safety of the community. He was particularly interested in the effect in event of a disaster, even a minor one.

The Auxiliary Police Ambulance Corps plan would call for an annual subscription to pay for service. The cost would be $4 a family or $2 an individual. Those not subscribing to the plan would pay $10 for a day call and $15 for a night call.

Parker, who headed the Cumberland Fire Department's part in the drive, expressed appreciation for the work of the members of the department, local Boy Scouts and members of the volunteer fire companies of the two counties for their time and effort in making the campaign a success.

Cattle Owners Urged To Get Stock Tested

Brucellosis Check Is Required Now

Cattle owners of Allegany County are reminded to have their animals tested for brucellosis as soon as possible.

Joseph M. Steger, county agent, yesterday said that farmers who have not had tests made are asked to contact Dr. C. N. Foose, veterinarian in order that he may get authorization to test the animals.

Brucellosis, a specific infectious disease of animals, is the cause of undulant fever in human beings which results from the milk of the cow or eating meat that is improperly prepared.

Steger pointed out that a program throughout the state was in effect to have all cattle tested as soon as possible. About the first of November funds appropriated by the State Brucellosis Committee were used up.

However additional funds have been appropriated to carry on the test work until about December 31. Steger said he has received a number of telephone calls from county farmers asking if their cattle could be given tests for brucellosis.

Approximately 80 per cent of the animals throughout the county have been checked and it is the plan of the committee to have all cattle tested.

In a breakdown, Steger pointed out that the annual loss to the livestock industry due to brucellosis is some $100,000,000 including loss of milk estimated at 22 per cent; loss of calves, loss of value of infected cows, and loss caused in other stock.

Work On Market Street Span Set After Christmas

The contractor for the new Market Street Bridge is getting set up but is not expected to take the span out of service until after the Christmas holidays, according to Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

He said the H. D. Case construction firm of Mt. Airy expects this week to move in equipment and set up a field office.

The firm is building the part of the bridge which spans Wills Creek under a $176,963 contract awarded by the City of Cumberland.

Buchholtz said he has asked the firm to defer the closing of the span until after Christmas, if possible, due to the heavy traffic conditions to be encountered during the holiday season.

Couple Brought To Court Here

A Bowling Green mother and father were given a suspended sentence in the Maryland House of Correction and paroled for a year by Juvenile Court Magistrate Morris Baron yesterday on charges of contributing to the delinquency of their nine children.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said his office received a call that the parents were neglecting their children and living in squalor and sent two deputies from the sheriff's office to investigate.

Authorities found the children, ranging in ages from less than a year to 15 years, living in filth and dirt, with plumbing in the house broken and conditions "the worst we've ever seen."

Both the parents were working, Fletcher said, with the husband having a good job and able to support the family.

Magistrate Baron suspended the sentence and paroled the couple on the condition they clean up their home, take care of the children and that the woman quit her job to be responsible for the care of the children.

Holiday Mail Rush Started

Additional postal clerks were on duty at the Post Office here yesterday, as the first impact of the heavy holiday mail was felt. The post office was crowded most of the day, and postal officials expect a still heavier volume all this week.

The extra hours at the Post Office Sunday and Saturday enabled many people to mail Christmas packages and cards over the weekend, thus assuring delivery before Christmas.

Postal officials said the number of cancellations has been gaining steadily, reaching 30,000 Saturday, which is heavier than the amount of mail dispatched the same day last year.

Most of Sunday's work involved parcels and sale of stamps to people who will mail cards this week. The Saturday and Sunday afternoon hours, adopted to help expedite the early movement of mail will probably be repeated next weekend, postal officials noted.

In addition to a steady and marked increase in the amount of mail being dispatched here, postal officials said incoming mail has increased greatly in quantity.

The Salvation Army has set up its customary package wrapping booth, to assist persons with gift wrapping and mailing.
